

THE

STRENUOUS

LIFE 1932

The background is a complex abstract composition. It features a grid of large squares in shades of tan, beige, and light brown. Overlaid on this grid are various geometric patterns. At the top, there are stylized, overlapping shapes that resemble domes or architectural elements in darker brown and tan. A horizontal band across the middle contains a repeating pattern of small, dark, semi-circular shapes. To the right of the text box, there is a larger, more complex geometric shape with a vertical line and a horizontal base, resembling a stylized 'L' or a corner. At the bottom, there is a wide band with a repeating pattern of small, dark, angular shapes, possibly representing a row of seats or a decorative border. The overall aesthetic is mid-20th-century modernist, with a focus on clean lines and a limited color palette.

FOREWORD

IN the olden days, along the Mississippi, the coming of the Showboat was looked forward to with great longing and expectancy. It was the one big event of the year. We, the crew of the Showboat "Strenuous Life," have prepared as our feature attraction the highlights of the Roosevelt school year. We hope that this show, coming for the tenth successive time, will be greeted with the same enthusiasm and pleasure that characterized the coming of the Mississippi showboats.

HISTORIC HIGHLIGHTS

ROOSEVELT SPIRIT—Something only a real school has a right to represent—symbolizing among other great things—unblemishable character—constant clean fight—and above all—indispensable “carry on” endeavor.

TROPHIES—Small—far from insignificant—symbols of almost forgotten glorious victories—reposing in their glass house—always proudly exhibiting themselves—seemingly reaching out—begging—for more company.

MEMORIALS—Tom Hyllengren and Bob Jones—their memory has left some things for which every boy should strive—leadership—inspiration—assistance—scholarship—athletic prowess—on a parity with these boys—an extreme honor.

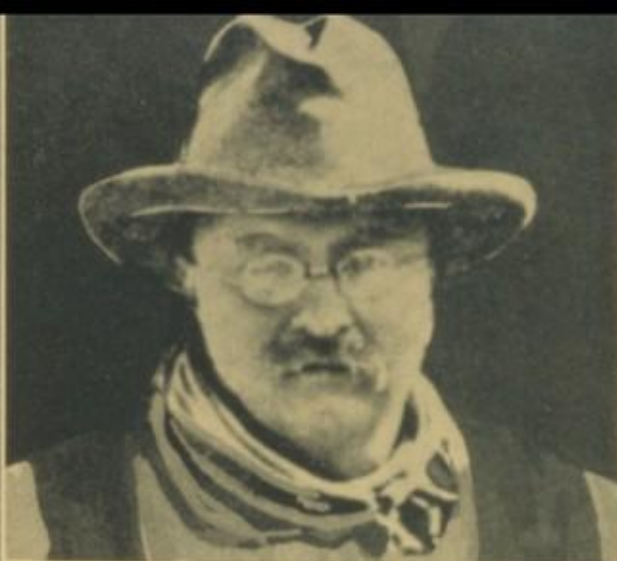

BASKETBALL—1924—Roosevelt's first championship—what a decisive victory—ten straight wins without a defeat—four all-city men—a real team—really coached—with little Bobby Dvorak as their mascot.

BASKETBALL—SECOND TEAM—1924—Aiding in molding a first team championship—at the same time winning their own—the Sophs winning also—making three championships in one season—not bad.

TENNIS—1924—Coached by R. E. Leaf—led by little “Howie” Langlie—these boys brought first tennis honors to our school—although sharing the title—real champions!

FOOTBALL—1925—Underdog at the beginning—finest in the city at the end—first class coaching—first class teamwork—resulting in Roosevelt being the third name placed on the Michigan Trophy.

FOOTBALL—1931—Roosevelt's second leg on the Michigan Trophy—and how!—Coach Dvorak produced a team!—allowing no team to cross its goal line—carrying the name of Roosevelt—as only champions can.

HISTORIC HIGHLIGHTS

ANNUAL—Forever recording—foregoing productions of this enormous cast—aiding in future endeavors—perpetuating events—offering inspiration—beckoning—asking—you to produce.

MADemoiselle Modiste—1923—First combined musical and dramatic productions—leaving many strains of entrancing music—happy memories of sylphlike dance steps—a heart satisfaction that Roosevelt is the kind of school that can do real things.

THE SINGING GIRL—1924—And how she sang—amidst a wonderful Austrian background—thanks to Mr. Deits—stirring, never to be forgotten rhythm—directed as only Mr. Worth can—superb in every way.

THE WIZARD OF THE NILE—1927—Max Stuart well representing Kibosh—a magician making a professional tour of Egypt—Cleopatra, a Princess who knows naught of love—divinely characterized by Jane Quigley—complications—wonderful theme—wonderful cast—wonderful directing.

THE RED MILL—1928—Between—Barbara Bourne, as Bertha—Don Craig as the Burgomaster—"Con" Kidder and "Kid" Conner—many other pleasing voices—this Hollandish production was enjoyed by all.

THE FIREFLY—1929—Away for a lovely ocean cruise—along with—captivating singing—great dramatics—led by Miss Miller—an extremely interesting but simple plot—made possible by the tireless effort—of Mr. Riggs.

SWEETHEARTS—1930—Revolution in Zilania—a kidnaped princess—an impostor on the throne—Prince Franz's love for Princess Sylvia—her return to the throne—marriage—who could ask for more in one opera?

THE VAGABOND KING—1931—Francois Villon—the strangest rascal in the world—Louis XI the spider king—Katherine, the lovely niece of the king—schemes against the throne—invading Burgundians—glorious costuming by Mrs. Moody—exciting and tuneful as an opera can be.

HISTORIC HIGHLIGHTS

THE SCHOOL—A theater—where scenes that live forever are made—humorous scene—interesting—pleasant—yet sometimes a slight note of tragedy—produced on your stage.

SHERWOOD—1922—Robin Hood—Friar Tuck—Little John—Sherwood Forest—over two hundred students taking part—ably directed by Miss Whitmire—one of the finest attempts ever made in high school dramatics.

THE PIPER—1924—A wonderful cast—bearing such names as—Michael-the-Sword-Eater—Cheat-the-Devil—Kert-the-Syndic—a peculiar play—put over in a peculiar, yet successful, manner—fine direction of Miss Whitmire.

THE GOOSE HANGS HIGH—1927—A modern drama—errant youth finally realizing its selfishness—coming through in the crisis—Mary Griffith the "find" of the year—amongst a perfectly directed cast.

THE ROMANTIC AGE—1928—A subtle comedy—the love of a twentieth century girl for the age of chivalry—dreams of the knight who would some day carry her away—realistically pictured in Mrs. Moody's costumes—Dave Henderson as Helen Benway's blue and silver knight—skillfully portrayed.

POMANDER WALK—1929—A forbidden love affair—several other love affairs—some old gossips—some peculiar characters—all found on one Victorian walk—Josephine Strother and Dick Young starring.

LILIES OF THE FIELD—1930—A gay, modern comedy drama—revolving around a struggle between two sisters—for a trip to London—offered by Grandma—well portrayed—exceedingly well directed and staged.

ALICE-SIT-BY-THE-FIRE—1931—The age-old conflict between age and maturity—scenes showing humorous reunion of children with parents—after many years' separation—two charming casts—charmingly directed by Miss Jergensen.

HISTORIC HIGHLIGHTS

MR. FROULA—The director—always aiding—leading—intervening when necessary—bent on being a benefit to others—offering a guiding hand to all with whom he has contact.

AUDITORIUM—One moment gloomy and deserted—the next, teeming with life—pent-up energy seemingly visible in the air—a large and beautiful theater—the meeting place of our school.

PIONEER FACULTY—Ten years of active service in Roosevelt—ten years of molding fit citizens—carrying on the spirit for which the school stands—still paving the way for others.

LIBRARY—Books—volume after volume of those things that make mass education possible—this one great room of ours holds—thousands of hours of pleasure—miles and miles of knowledge.

OFFICE TRAINING—Important cogs in the machinery of our school—balancing the school's accounts—mimeographing—tests—bulletins—announcements—preparing and bettering themselves—to enter the great commercial world.

GIRLS' GYM—Keeping up with the boys in athletics as well as in other things—working for that girlish figure—helping that natural schoolgirl complexion—at the same time having lots of fun.

MACHINE SHOP—Skilled labor in the making—this machinery is a developer—of articles—of men of a certain type—giving an opportunity for knowledge—of inestimable value.

BOAT SHOP—Molders—builders—from a pile of lumber producing—as if by magic—future explorers and wanderers of the H₂O—teaching themselves both accuracy and patience.

SHOW'S PERSONNEL

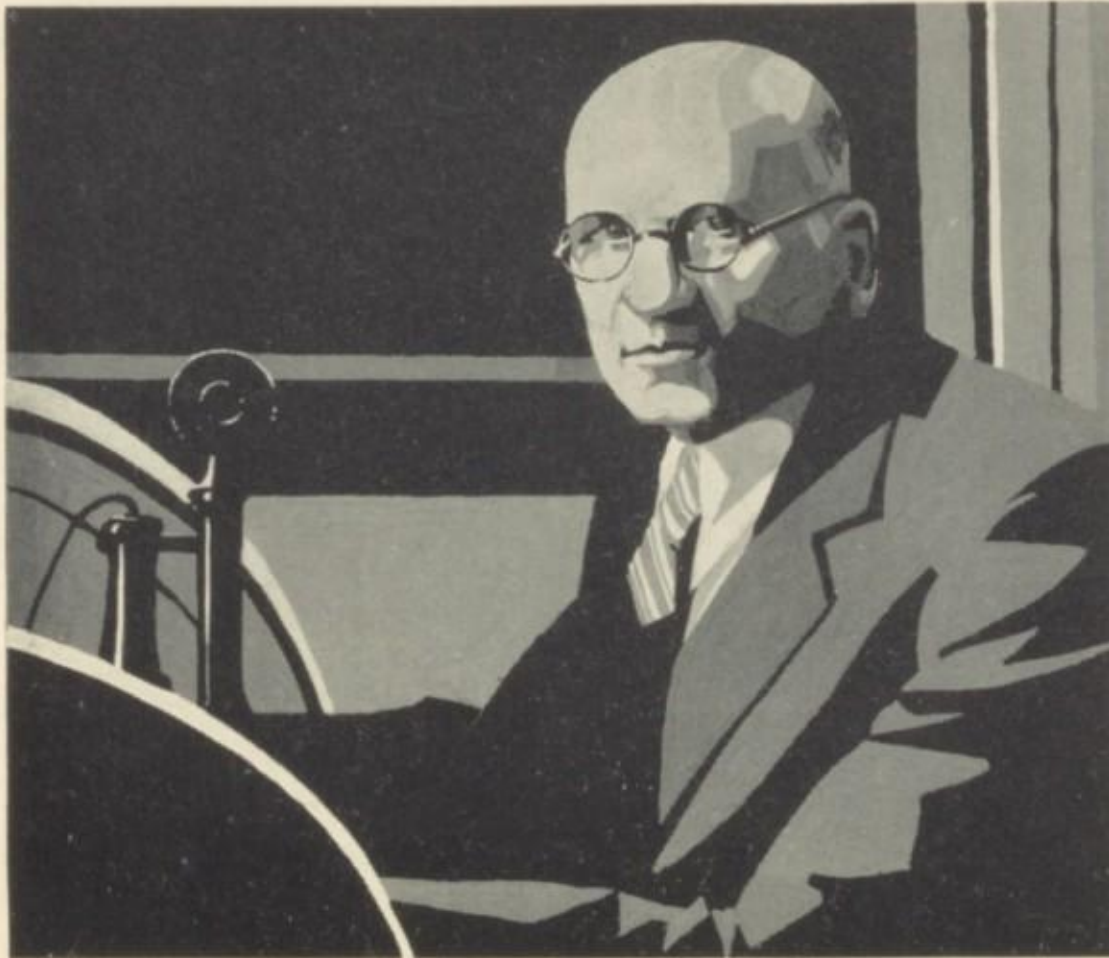

Dear Louise,
Don't forget the good times we had together at Cornish. I'm sorry I didn't see more of you
this past year but we'll have to do better
next year, won't we?
Here's just lots of luck

Doris Hemmick

All of the Show's personnel strove to produce as fine a production as was possible. Directors and troupers worked as one in trying to uphold the standard of their profession: that of always giving all that was in them to give. Just so in Roosevelt, faculty and student body have worked together to make a fine school. They have tried to equal the standard of former years and to better it, that they who follow might have inspiration.

THE DIRECTORS

PRINCIPAL'S FOREWORD

The achievements of our days reduce to ordinary experiences the wild creations of "The Arabian Nights." Ten years ago our school was only a dream and our neighborhood, without a paved street, was sparsely settled with humble homes.

The building of a million dollar school in such a district seemed to some a wild venture and the School Board was severely criticized.

Later events, however, proved that these men had vision as well as good judgment. Roosevelt High School opened its portals in the fall of Nineteen Hundred Twenty-Two. Within three years the capacity of the building was taxed, and soon after that an addition was built.

This briefly is the history of our growth but material growth is only a small measure of any community's real development. The schools of all ages have been the nurseries of spiritual values. Besides cultivating intellectual power, they also inspire a love of truth. They lead not only to the tree of Knowledge but also to the tree of Life.

And so it is that the best thing about a school is its teachers. Education ever receives its shape from inspired personalities.

Our school has been most fortunate in its teachers, kindled to uncommon zeal by this maxim: "Who dares to teach must never cease to learn."

It was a great thing to lift our district out of the mud. It is a greater achievement to lift the youth of the district to a culture closely allied with the supreme interests of life.

This has been the work of Roosevelt High School during its first decade and will continue to be increasingly the great purpose of what we hope will become a great school.

ADMINISTRATION

Roosevelt: a palace of memories, of wisdom, of learning—time-ripened by the passage of ten fruitful years which have added much to the treasure which she holds for those who come to stay within her coveted portals.

Who holds the keys to this palace; who serves as guide to the stranger; who aids the newly-arrived adventurer in the realm of knowledge to tap the source of everlasting wealth which may mean the most to him?

We who have been here for some time call them the office force, the advisors, and the custodian. Technically they are referred to as the administration. But what matters their title? So much more valuable is what they have come to mean to us.

From our earlier days while Freshmen, when we first entered these strange halls of learning, we came to depend upon them for guidance. What should we take? Where was this located? What were the requirements? Numberless were the questions, but ready were their answers. Thus they became to us a source of information that was always at our disposal.

In our later days as Seniors the questions are not so numerous; our ignorance not so great. But still they serve as guides—now, to larger palaces of wisdom and learning. Where shall we go? What course shall we follow? Once again with ready smile and kind reply they solve our problems for us.

So as the time comes to bid adieu to this, our palace of memories, we wish to thank our guides for opening to us the locks that held the treasured secrets. In turn we keep locked in our hearts the memories of them and the palace which they have so faithfully served.

SENIOR CLASS

The tenth and largest class has now graduated from Roosevelt! A class possessing outstanding quality as well as unusual quantity! The quantity was shown by the numerical size of the class, which numbered five hundred and forty-four. The quality was evinced by the success of the activities of the class.

For the second time in ten years Roosevelt has won the football championship. First place was won without a single point being scored against Roosevelt. Among the Seniors supporting the team in victory were Heinie Bengston, Max Bitts, Bob Brown, Don Davies, Elmer Logg, and John Thomas.

The play, "Seventh Heaven", was produced in true tenth year style by the Senior class. The principals for the casts Friday and Saturday were, respectively: Connie Coyne and Jim Gentry; Molly McGrath and John Biggs.

The date, Friday the thirteenth, failed to hoodoo the Senior dance. With black cats for a motif and the lunchroom for the locale, the dance was very entertaining.

The Senior picnic was held at Fletcher Bay, which has been the scene of the picnics for nine years. The outing, beginning at nine and ending at nine, was enjoyed to the utmost.

The committees and chairmen supplementing the work of the class officers were: Commencement, Winifred Grinnell; Scholarship, Martha Roletto; Announcements, Catherine Macdonald; Pins and Rings, Marjorie Stark; Dance, Jeanne Hummer; Senior Picnic, John Schuyten and Dave McGinnis; Senior Publication, Tom Griffith.

Thus the Senior class of nineteen hundred thirty-two became part of the history of Roosevelt High School.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

Five hundred and forty-four Seniors graduating! Ninety-one Seniors on the honor roll, which was more than all the other classes placed! A scholastic record any class would be proud to possess! Those Seniors who received the highest scholastic honors were John Schuyten, Valedictorian, and Gertrude Whitham, Salutatorian. The members of the Senior class chose Janet Riggs and Max Bitts to be their speakers at Commencement night, June sixteenth, at the University of Washington Pavilion.

Other Seniors distinguishing themselves scholastically were: Amende, Anderson, Baldwin, Bard, Benway, Bergues, Bingham, Bever, Burgess, Capp, Clark, Clay, Clifford, Cordiner, Cornwall, Crary, Crocker, Crowther, Dickie, Dippell, Dowdy, Ekonred, Erickson, Eyler, Fairbank, Field.

Also: Firstenburg, Fossum, Fujikira, Fulton, Glancy, Greely, Grinnell, Grunbock, Handley, Harrison, Hatch, Hemphill, Hess, Hill, Hirata, Hoard, Horn, Hull, Hunt, Jacobsen, B. Johnson, J. Johnson, Kellenberger, Kinzel, Koski, Larson, Logg, Lynch, Macdonald, McCaffrey, Markley, D. Meggs, R. Meggs, Mitchell, Miyaki, Myers.

The remainder who excelled at their studies were: G. Nelson, C. Nelson, E. Nelson, Nicholson, North, Osborne, Parker, Quigley, Read, Renny, Riggs, Ringrose, Roletto, Rutherford, Saeman, Schenck, Schneider, Schuyten, Shipek, Squier, Straight, Strandrud, Sweet, Townsend, B. Tuttle, C. Tuttle, Vivian, Waltz, Whitham, Williams, Yeomans, Zorn.

Having completed their final work at Roosevelt, the graduating Seniors said good-bye on June sixteenth.

JUNIOR CLASS

During the last year the Juniors have taken a prominent part in directing and leading student activities, and the whole class has set a worthy example for the rest of the school.

Much credit for the success of the year's work must be given to our advisors, Miss Helen Anderson and Miss O. Van Orsdall, and the officers, Charlotte Fitton, president; Margaret Rolph, vice-president; Audrey Vivian, secretary; and Treat Clark, treasurer. Don Garland and Bob Morrison represented the class on the Boys' Club executive board.

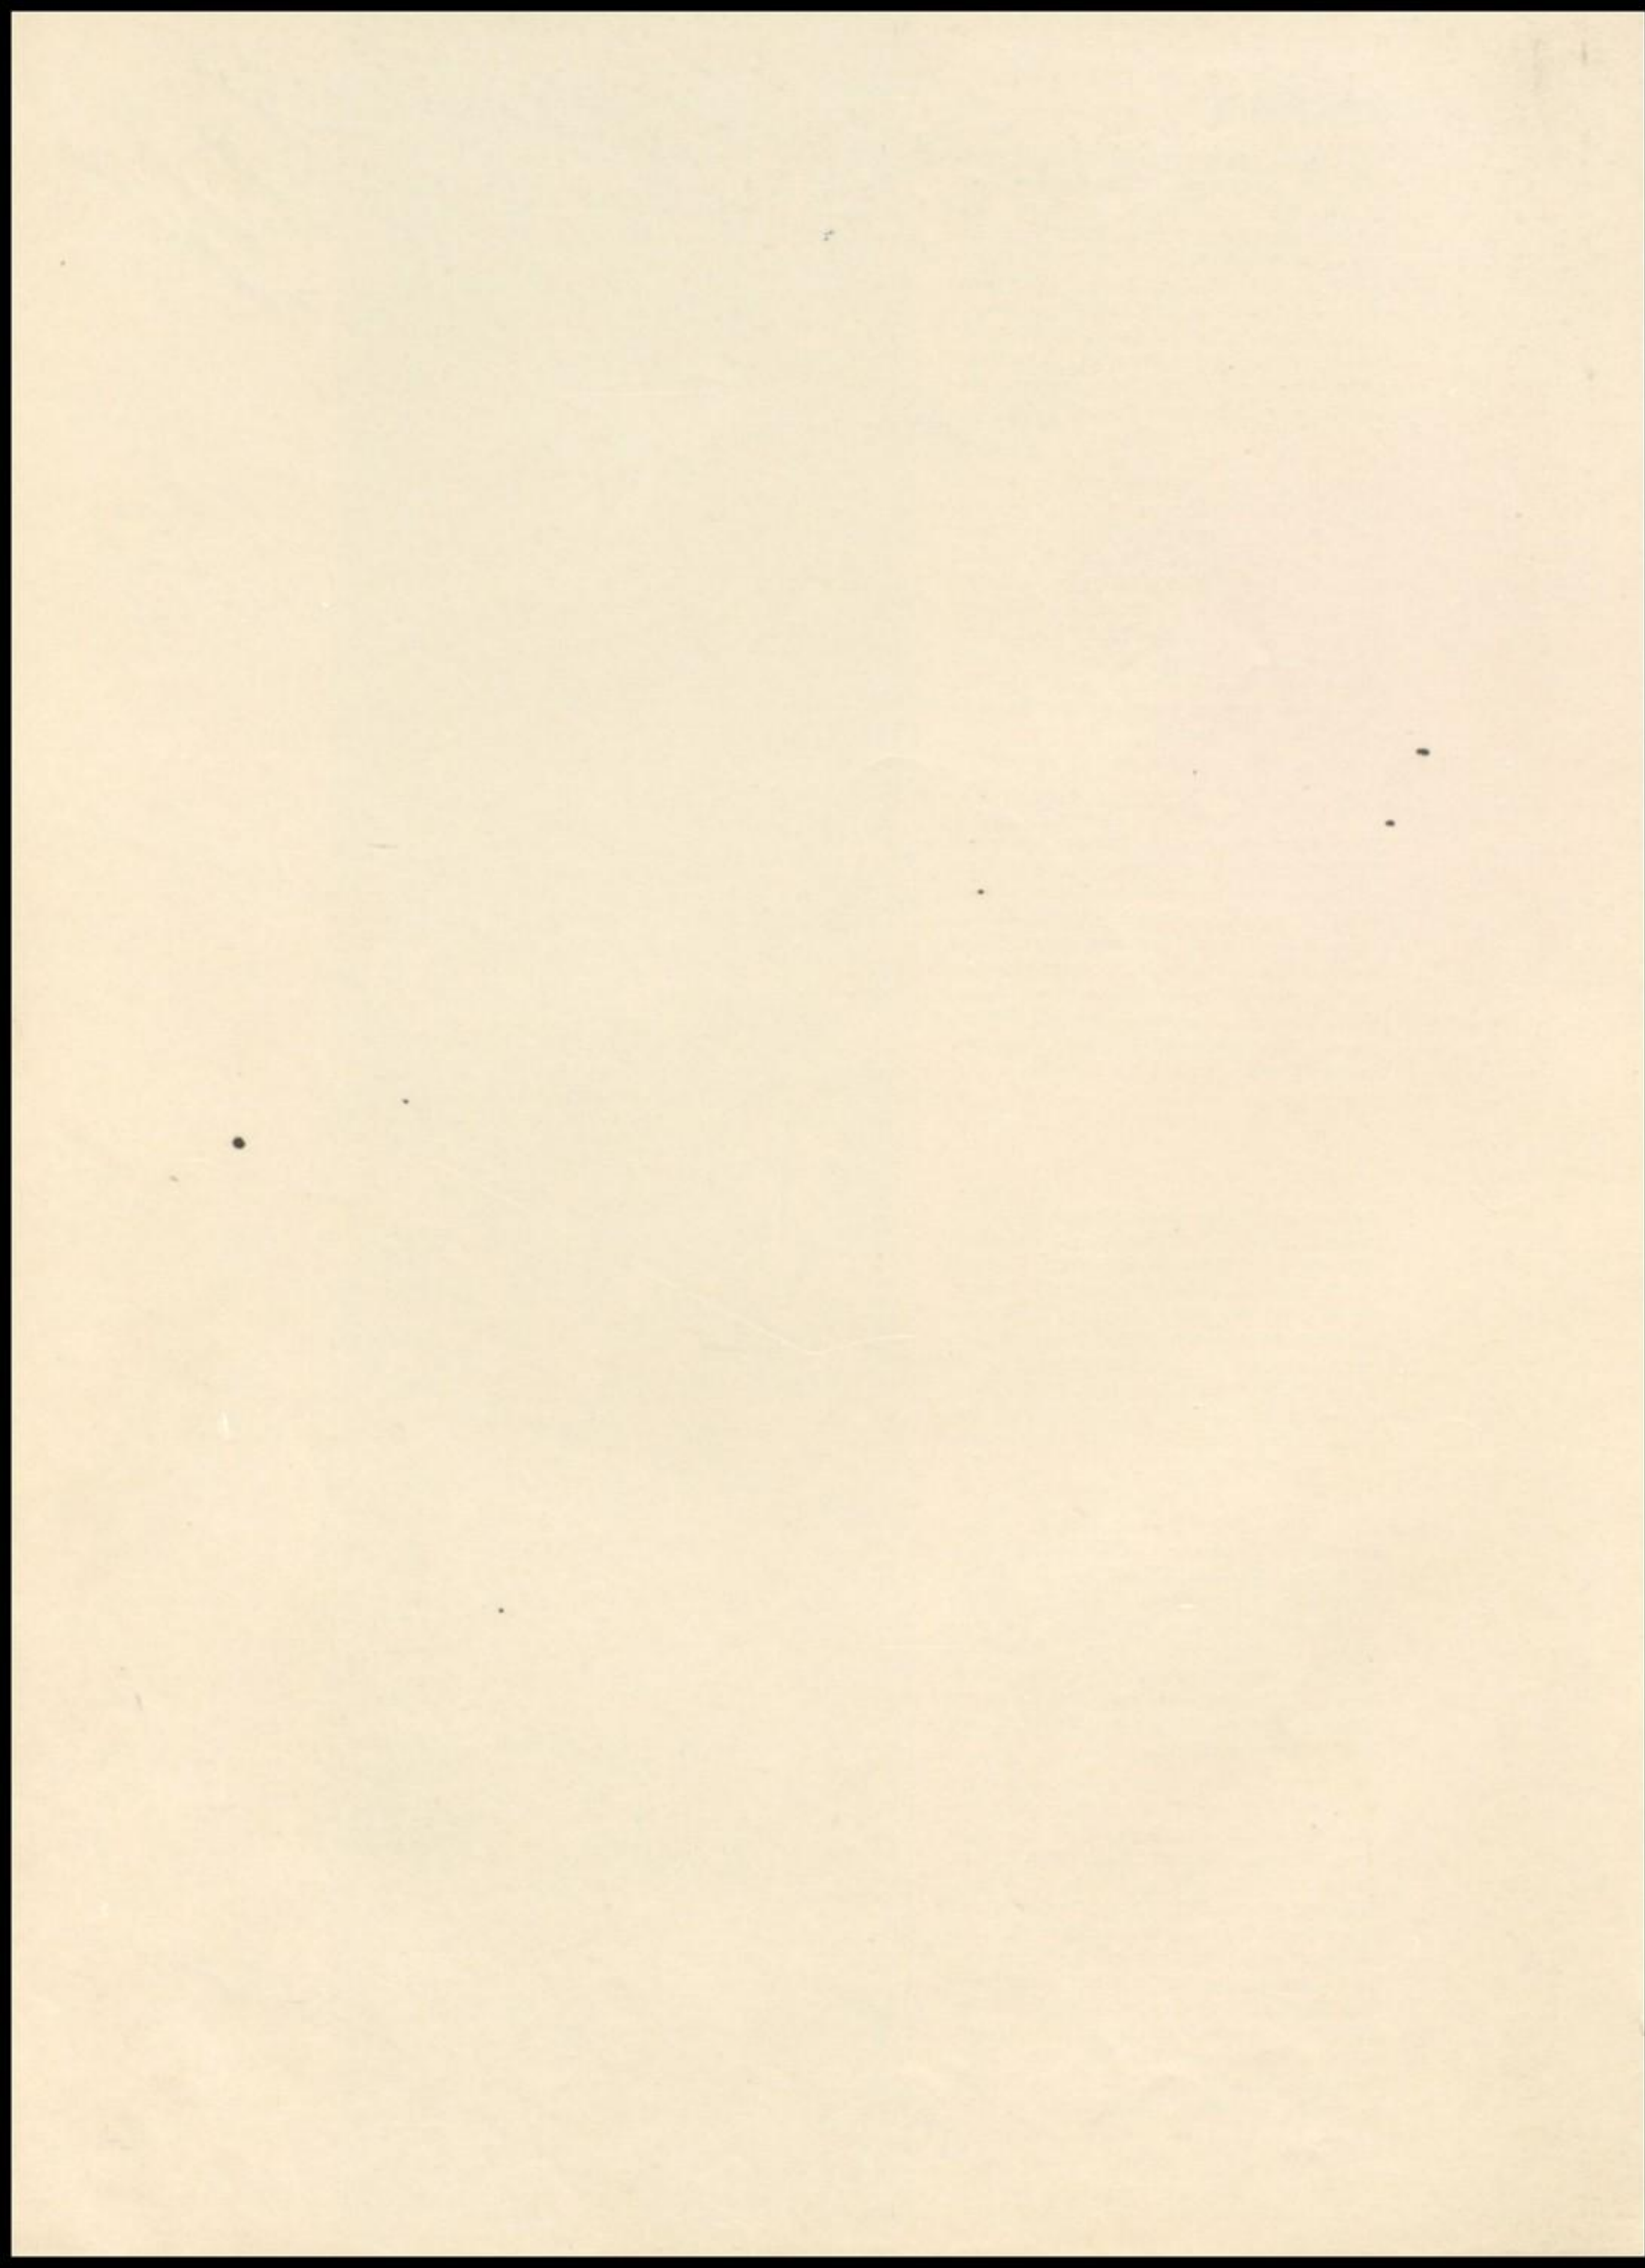

In scholarship the Juniors ranked second among the classes. The vice-president acted as scholarship chairman, and supervised the tutoring. In athletics the class did equally as well as in their scholastic activities. Especially worthy of mention were George Dirks and Harold Jarvis, who made all-city teams in football.

The Junior Dance, which was a highlight among the social activities of the year, was given March seventeenth. A clever Chinese motif was carried out. The lunchroom walls were hung with gay oriental decorations; punch was served; a peppy orchestra played; a tiny girl danced during the intermission, and for the added enjoyment of the dancers a waltz and fox trot contest was staged. Don Garland, general chairman, was assisted by a corps of assistants—Beth Fitton, Virginia Hoskins, June Sherrill, Ellen Avery, Betty Downey, Lee McMurtry, and Horace McClure.

In scholarship, in athletics, in both class and school activities, the Juniors have been prominent.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Four capable officers! A championship football team! Progressive scholarship! A peppy assembly and a delightful party! What more could be expected of a Sophomore class?

Enthusiasm was shown by the Sophomores in their campaigning for officers. By close ballots both president and vice-president were elected. Ruth Blanchard assumed the title of president, while Clarke McDonald that of vice-president. The positions of secretary and treasurer were filled by Thelma Smith and Harold Ferch. Beverly Shephard and Arthur Quigley were unopposed for the Boys' Club representatives.

In contrast to previous years not one player on the Sophomore football team was declared ineligible because of scholarship. Coach Scheer commended the boys on this unusual achievement. The Sophomore class aimed for progressive scholarship. The goal is yet to be reached, but its torch membership is representative of a good beginning.

A peppy assembly was held during Friendship week. Roosevelt's favorite songster, Mr. Vivian, led the Sophomores in group songs. The "Four Horsemen," the well known officers of the Sophomore class, were introduced, after which several inspiring talks were given.

An enjoyable get-acquainted program, with readings, songs, and the added attractions of de-lish-us cider and crispy doughnuts constituted the Sophomore party.

The two enthusiastic advisors, Mrs. Gilbreath and Miss Lee, and many versatile entertainers made the Sophomore good times possible.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Yes, the Seniors were once Freshmen, but will the Freshmen ever become Seniors? Most certainly, is the answer.

The Freshmen have made a promising start. In scholarship the class of '35 received a greater increase in grades than any of the other classes. In sports the Frosh-Soph football team kept up their enviable record of winning all of their games. The basketball team did not win many games, yet it did show true Roosevelt sportsmanship.

This year's activities started with an enthusiastic gathering for the nomination of officers. Before the election took place all of the nominees were placed on committees for planning the coming parties.

Those who supervised the class activities were Miss Gleditzsch, faculty advisor; Ralph Jacobson, president; John Sanders, vice-president; Ralph Baldwin, secretary; and Alice Dickie, treasurer. Katherine Hauge and Ralph Jacobson represented the class in the Student Council. Representatives elected to the Boys' Club were Herndon Kinsinger and Van Macduff.

On October fifteenth came the glorious Freshman Frolic. The gay frolickers' fun consisted of enjoying an interesting and talented program followed by punch and lolly-pops.

Not yet has the class of '35 fully assembled, for since Nineteen Twenty-Eight John Marshall Junior High has claimed a greater part of the ninth grade, to be given up only when they become Sophomores. This addition, which is to be made next semester, will double the enrollment of the class and defer the selection of class colors and motto until next school year.

CURTAIN ACTS

Oftentimes the Curtain Acts, used as "fillers" between the main performances, stole the show. In any case they always added to the evening's entertainment and came to have an important place on the program. In Roosevelt our activities—the Curtain Acts of school life—have come to have a definite place in the educational program. Although they never overshadow the regular school work, they do add to the interest of school life and the student's education.

ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

Roosevelt—ten years of existence—anniversary edition—historical events! Although the school as a whole is celebrating its tenth anniversary, the Associated Students of Roosevelt is marking the completion of only its second year of operation. In this short period of time, however, the A. S. R. has enlarged the scope of its endeavors until it now covers an extensive range of student activities.

The work of the Associated Students is divided into two broad fields: legislation on school problems, and the administration of this legislation through the medium of committees.

Two groups of students take an active part in the consideration and passing of legislation. These groups are the Student Cabinet and the Student Council. They meet on alternate weeks throughout the year.

Composed of the presidents of the classes, the class representatives and the officers of the A. S. R., the Student Cabinet is the small discussion group in which problems of the school are threshed over before being taken to the Student Council. At the Student Council meetings the measures which the Cabinet have already passed upon are presented for the final approval of the Roll representatives. In this manner not only is student opinion moulded upon definite, constructive lines, but also many projects for the improvement of the school are undertaken.

Comprising a most diversified program the projects for school improvement which were undertaken this year ranged from investigating the student ticket idea to improving the football field, and included such worthwhile endeavors as Friendship Week, the forming of a new Study Hall Code, and promoting the selection of a school seal.

Cabinet: Hess, Fitton, Blanchard, Jacobson

Renny, Secretary; Hartson, Treasurer; Mr. Turner, Advisor

ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

Much of the work accomplished by the A. S. R. was done through its thirteen standing committees and a number of special committees. Some of the projects of these committees were the promoting of thrift, controlling of traffic in the halls, planning of Thanksgiving boxes and Christmas gifts to orphans, establishing relations with other high schools and the grade schools, keeping a record of alumni news, improving school scholarship, health, and appearance of the building, recording the "activities" of all students, listing the student cars, aiding in the lunchroom, and advertising school performances and games.

Two dances were given by the A. S. R. during the year. The first was given in December, with Janet Riggs and Russell McClure as co-chairmen. The second dance was held in March under the co-chairmanship of Ruth Gates and Carl Thompson.

At the beginning of the year the A. S. R., with the co-operation of the News, issued an R book. Publication of the R book had been discontinued for the past two years, but it was felt that the school's tenth anniversary warranted the printing of a new issue. A group of students under the chairmanship of Winifred Grinnell spent a part of their vacation compiling new data and editing the handbook. As the booklet was well received, it turned out to be a financial success.

The A. S. R. chairmen used many underclassmen on their committees and tried to apportion the work as evenly as possible between the boys and girls. This was done in order that the Associated Students might truly represent the school and that there might be experienced students to carry on the work of the organization in future years.

GIRLS' CLUB

Ten years ago the girls of Roosevelt planted a garden:—a garden of happiness known as the Roosevelt Girls' Club; but among the girls themselves the club has also borne the name of "The Rosegarden."

During ten wonderful years Roosevelt girls have been rooting their lives in the soil of fine thoughts, noble ideals, and sincere emotions;—kind thoughts for others;—and ideals of integrity, democracy and service. They have sought to weed out detrimental influences, and have tried to keep the Rosegarden well watered with the joy of living.

With twenty-eight committees as their tools of service;—service to each other, to the school, and to the community; they have cultivated the garden, and so brought a wealth of color and fragrance into the life of the school.

There have been gay, friendly parties to welcome the new girls; Charm Club meetings for perfecting characters and personalities, and learning the secrets of feminine grace and charm; vocational trips; round-table discussions; and conferences to help girls discover careers of usefulness for themselves.

GIRLS' CLUB

Delightful banquets for dads and daughters, as well as for mothers and their girls; Friendship Week; the basketball tournament; and many other worth while activities have been sponsored for entertainment.

At one end of the Rosegarden there rises the Hill of High Hopes on which grows ambition and faith in the possibilities of life. From here the girls look down upon the many paths that lead to college and out into the world of industry and commerce;—to the practice of law, medicine, teaching, and other forms of service to themselves and others.

So it is that the Garden plays a major part in instilling in each girl the seeds of success.

Eventually, however, each girl leaves the Rosegarden to achieve her goal by wandering down one of those paths into the future.

As she goes, she wants to carry with her some of the fragrant, colorful flowers of a cultivated spirit with which to beautify her little corner of the world, into which she is to become a factor towards advancement.

BOYS' CLUB

Upholding and carrying to new heights the spirit and feeling of good will that so characterizes the Roosevelt Boys' Club, this organization had one of the most successful of its ten years of existence.

Had the club not possessed such an efficient staff of officers many of its achievements would have been otherwise improbable. These officers were: Bob Brown, president; Bert Anshutz, vice-president; George Dirks, secretary; and Sam Hess, treasurer. The boys were always kept on the right track under the firm hand of Sherry Berthiaume, advisor.

During the past decade, the Boys' Club has accomplished many projects which have been instrumental in improving the school as a whole. For example, it planned and built the baseball bleachers; it constructed the cinder track, it has set aside five hundred dollars as a means to encourage scholarship; it has established the Hyllengren and Bob Jones' Memorial; it organized the Rough Riders, which was the first successful service organization ever developed in the Seattle high schools; it devised the first system of traffic regulations to be used in the halls; and it has carried on welfare work extensively. These are but a few of the many completed undertakings of the club.

This year, also, many worthy things have been accomplished. At the beginning of the fall semester two assemblies were held in order to acquaint the boys with each other and to get the business started in an organized and satisfactory manner. Four other mass meetings were held throughout the balance of the year, all under the direction of Bud Johns. At these meetings, exclusive to boys, the business of the club was talked over and issues were decided.

BOYS' CLUB

Proving itself to be the greatest ever staged in the history of Roosevelt, the Father-Son Big Nite was a great success. With the Football Championship as the theme, the banquet from the beginning accomplished its purpose, that of bringing the dads and their sons together in a real old-fashioned bean feed. Beans and brown bread constituted the major part of the repast. An orchestra, wrestling matches, group singing, toasts, and xylophonists comprised the entertainment. Joe Collart, chairman, Polly Crandell, Bob Waltz, and Clark Tuttle made up the committee responsible for the entire banquet. Two dances held jointly with the Girls' Club completed the social calendar.

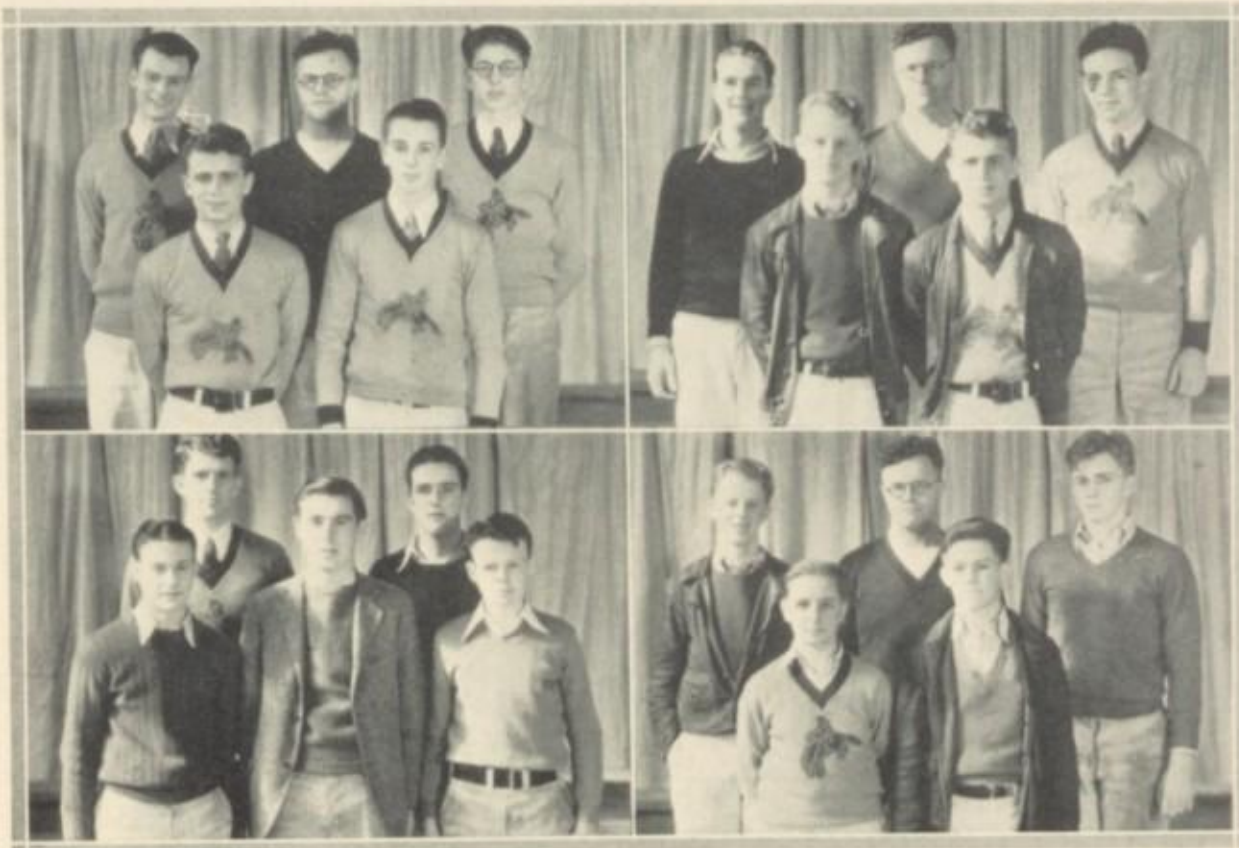

The Board of Athletic Control, meeting for the fourth time since its origination, effected a slight change in the requirements for names to be engraved on the Bob Jones' Memorial. The standard was changed from all A's and receiving a first team letter, to grades eligible for Torch and winning a first team letter in football. Max Bitts, Bob Brown, Harold Jarvis, and Elmer Logg were the recipients of this honor.

Welfare work, consisting of helping the needy and of aiding boys in Roosevelt who found it hard to maintain a proper diet, was carried on most efficiently. The debt was reduced and a surplus of five hundred dollars was accumulated in the treasury during the past year. Twenty-five underclass boys received dollars for superior work in scholastic activity. A violet-ray lamp was installed to care for the athletes.

The cabinet, made up from two representatives from each class, the heads of committees, and the officers, was largely responsible in stabilizing and in aiding the work of the club.

The Boys' Club committees were organized from time to time as the need for a permanently functioning group in that field arose. Among the committees organized at the present time are: Finance, Vocational Guidance, Scholarship, Rough Rider, and Athletics. The committees handle the routine work in their particular fields and also any extra work the president may assign, thus leaving the president free to direct the club.

The president appoints the committee chairmen, who, in turn, choose their committees. The number of members on the committees varies from three to fifteen.

ROUGH RIDERS

Since nineteen hundred twenty-six, under the guiding hand of "Sherry" Berthiaume, the Rough Riders have been a decided asset to our school. They represent the true Roosevelt spirit and handle well the so-called "dirty work" in, and about the building. Active Seniors with a good record are elected and proudly do they wear their bright green and gold sweaters which signify their membership in one of the school's finest honoraries.

HI-Y

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character"—such is the purpose of the Roosevelt Hi-Y.

Many Christian projects have been accomplished since the first meeting, which was held October seventeenth, nineteen hundred twenty-two, with Mr. Morgan as advisor. In this year's big project the club obtained and furnished a house for a poor family. Mr. Glass and the fellows felt quite satisfied that they have spent a successful year.

First Row: Bitts, Nicholson, Kelley, Fleming, McClure, Collart, K. Williams, Anshutz, Underhill, Bird, Sipprell. Second Row: Davies, Jarvis, Gannon, Brown, Dickie, Thomas, Condon, Waltz, Anderson, Loomis. Third Row: Carpenter, Crandell, Bengston, Mr. Glass, Johns, Padelford, Werner, Greely, Garland. RHO CLUB

The big "R" athletic society for girls is now under the leadership of Bertha Johnson, president; Alice Hay, vice-president; Joyce Johnson, secretary; and Frances Mattison, advertising manager.

This year the Rho Club sponsored the October Gym Dandy and the Bottle Drive. Selling candy at games has been one source of revenue for the tennis court the club is planning to build. The number of members, in spite of difficult requirements, has increased rapidly—now totaling twenty-six.

MINUTE SERVICE CLUB

Our Johnny-on-the-spot students, or in other words, the Minute Service Club, was the most recent addition to our club roster. The Boys' Club organized it to perform emergency work. The group is comprised of fifteen members who are graded in importance as, captain, first lieutenants, second lieutenants, and reserves. The members are organized in such a way that they can all be assembled, ready for action, on a minute's notice.

First Row: Jones, Quigley, Swenson, Malone, Clark, Jeffers, Kirschner. Second Row: Edwards, Pierce, Drury, Mr. Clark, Carpenter, Dootson, Baldwin.

CHESS CLUB

Kings! Queens! Knights! Bishops!

These words belie their adventurous and romantic atmosphere—being in reality, favorite expressions of the Chess Club. Under the able direction of Bourne Smith, president; Phillip Magnusson, secretary-treasurer; and Mr. Stillwell, advisor, the club has conducted many championships and every day would find its intellectual members draped over a chess board—poring over plays until far into the night.

MUSIC CLUB

The musically inclined students of Roosevelt organized a club in nineteen hundred twenty-eight for the purpose of developing musical talent and appreciation. Margaret Ewart and Ted Drotning, the leaders of the club this year, have assisted in producing many programs featuring well-known artists of the city. These programs were open to every one. The inspiration derived from the efforts of the Music Club are evident from its undisputed popularity.

RADIO CLUB

 . ---. - ---. - ... - - ---. - ---. - ---.

The seeming mystery of the above code is easily deciphered by the Roosevelt Radio Club. Many radiograms were sent to various parts of the country by a system of relay. It is now under the direction of Mr. Rantz. About four licensed operators are produced annually.

STAMP CLUB

From far away eastland, northland, and westland, come stamps for Roosevelt's stamp enthusiasts. Exhibits, contests, and speakers have added to the pleasures of stamp collecting. In nineteen hundred twenty-four, under the supervision of Mr. Smith, the Roosevelt Stamp Club was organized to provide a medium for the collection and exchange of stamps. Other than being educational, stamp collecting is also a favorite hobby. Mr. Kirschner is now its advisor.

HESPERIAN CLUB

Busy people find the Hesperian Club a most accommodating activity. It was organized in nineteen hundred thirty-one for those girls who have outside employment and can not take part in school activities. The eighty members are divided into hobby groups. The divisions are: sports, dancing, handicraft, drama, and art. This club is sponsored by the employment committee of the Girls' Club. It is very popular because of its time advantages and wide variety of interests.

MOTION PICTURE CLUB

Stage-struck, or rather, screen-struck members of the student body find the Motion Picture Club of great interest. The club, not content with the coldness of type, endeavored to conceive school life in terms of motion. The science and art of motion picture production in their various phases were studied. Clubs of this nature are rapidly gaining attention and interest in the greater part of the United States.

A CAPELLA CHOIR

A Capella Choir is the magic word representative of approximately eighty talented singers. It has made rapid progress during its two short years of existence—supplying lovely harmony at all the concerts—and creating the appealing atmosphere which prevailed at the Christmas Assembly.

PLAYERS' CLUB

The would-be actors and actresses of Roosevelt have their opportunity to investigate stage work through the Players' Club, organized in nineteen hundred thirty-one for students who have had oral expression. The Club is limited to twenty-five members, but there is a waiting list. Under the direction of Miss Jergensen, the Players' Club has produced many fine entertainments.

First Row: Tate, Mountain, Riggs, Meggs, Stark, Anderson, Hunt, Archer, E. Parker.

SCIENCE CLUB

Endeavoring to stimulate interest and make everyday science within the reach of all students, the Science Club was organized in nineteen hundred twenty-nine.

The Science Club membership is a great evidence of its growing popularity, which was attained through excellent programs in motion picture demonstrations, nominal fees, and whole-hearted supporters, all of which furthered the club's attainments. The size of the club has made necessary the organization of a smaller group to handle its affairs. This group is called the Science Club Council. It is composed of one representative from each science class and met every other week during the last school year.

The officers for this past year were: Paul Kirk and John Cheney, presidents; Bob Morrison, vice-president; Jean Williams and Cynthia Baldwin, secretaries; Bernice Hopkins, Charles Bowman, Paul Kirk, treasurers.

The Science Club has grown to be an indispensable aid to Roosevelt students, and the pleasure of each meeting is looked forward to with added vim. Mr. Cooper is its able advisor.

First Row: Grunbock, Daniels, Logg, Culver, Henderson, Caraher, Grunewald, Ahrens, Clark, Bingham. Second Row: Erickson, E. Lehman, Kleihauer, E. Fleming, Cornwall, R. GERMAN CLUB

The German Club was founded in nineteen hundred twenty-eight under the direction of Miss Hawkins, who still guides its destinies. The purpose is to stimulate a more extensive practice in conversational German, and to inspire the student's interest by providing a background of the customs, social life, and personality of the German people. It has done much toward accomplishing this aim.

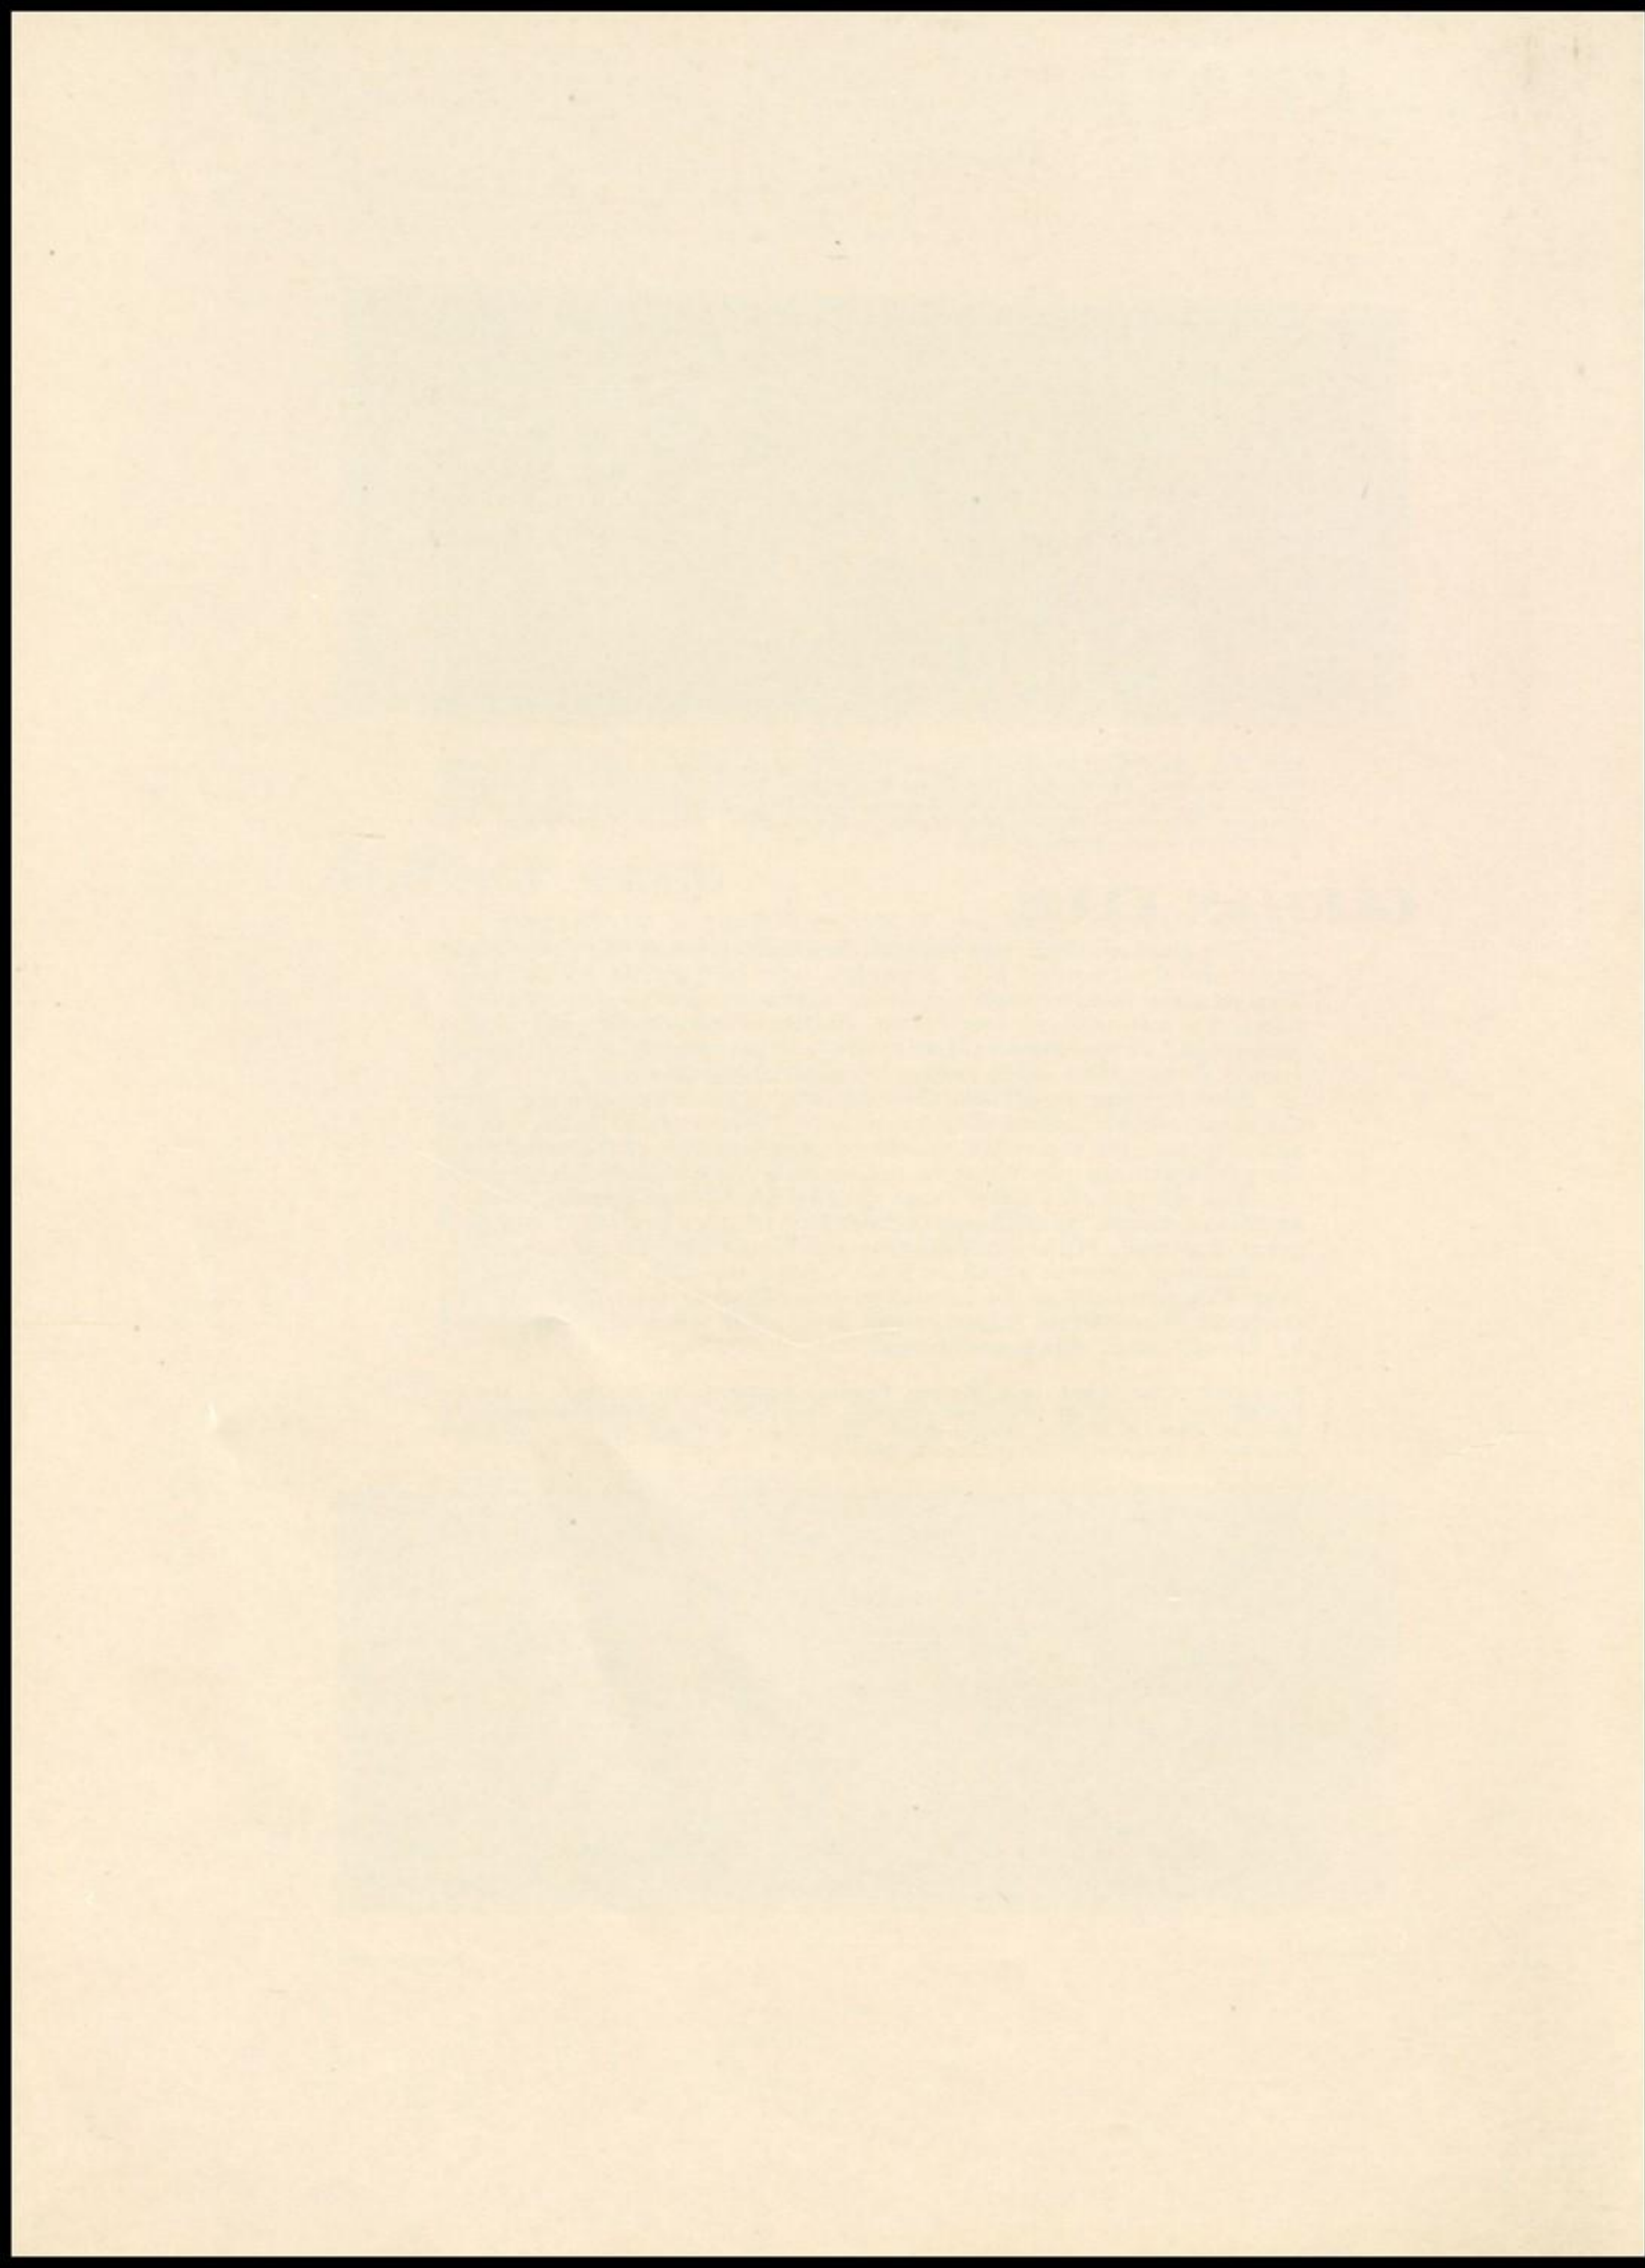

Anyone interested in the German language and customs may join; the total number of members now being seventy-five. Talks, music, and playlets give the students a better appreciation of German. Also, the parliamentary procedure of the meetings is conducted in German.

The officers this year were: Mattie Lindeberg, Spencer Dakan, and Ena Lehman, presidents; John Schuyten, vice-president and program chairman; Hillmuth Bollinger and Leslie Martin, treasurers.

Many prominent speakers have visited the club during the past year, and members of the faculty have made their contributions. The study of this difficult language has been made much more appealing by the efforts of this organization.

SENIOR ORCHESTRA - BAND

Brightening up and leading football games to victory! Adding vim to baseball games! Pepping up assemblies! and providing variety for the Revue were some of the services of the band. The band also aided with the commencement program.

Fifty famous Roosevelt musicians, the Senior Orchestra, whose music was heard and enjoyed by pupils in the Music Assembly and Opera, provided equal enjoyment for the Chamber of Commerce.

JUNIOR ORCHESTRA-SENIOR BOYS' GLEE

The Junior Orchestra of last year performed in the annual Concert; two assemblies, and a P. T. A. meeting.

The Boys' Senior Glee made harmonizing melodies charming to the ear. This group imparted beautiful tones for the Mid-Winter Concert and Opera.

First Row: Kirk, B. Fleming, Kelley, Jacobson, Underhill, Borheim, Martha Grant, Drotning, Sears, Schram, Dyson, Kvalheim, V. Anderson. Second Row: C. SENIOR GIRLS' GLEE—JUNIOR GIRLS' GLEE

Contributing to the ensemble group in the Mid-Winter Concert, were the Girls' Junior and Senior Glee, that combined their talents in three numbers of unified harmony.

First Row: MacIntosh, Silbaugh, Scudder, Nolan, Nahlke, Grinnell, Morgan, Lillis, Lilygren, Peterson, Mr. Worth. Second Row: Merritt, Stromstead, Stokes, Scott, Ford, Reese, Cruttenden, Doll, Pope, Hauge. Third Row: M. JUNIOR BOYS' GLEE—SOPHOMORE GIRLS' GLEE

The Boys' Junior Glee and Girls' Sophomore Glee are two large groups of promising young artists, inexperienced but co-operative and talented. At the mid-winter concert in early January they combined in a mass effect singing three numbers with the ensemble group. They were received very favorably by the audience, and seemed to show promise of a good future in next year's Senior Glee.

First Row: Sutherland, Day, Wheeler, Sjolín, Quigley, Parks, Peck, Renny, Heaton, Flaten. Second Row: Baldwin, M. OPERA

The Desert Song—the realization and fulfilment of a thoroughly attractive opera—epitome of all hoped and worked for in the way of dramatic and musical talent.

Moonlight on the desert; a sad farewell scene as the Red Shadow leaves his Riff followers to wander alone over the relentless sands; a mysterious rendezvous in the Riff mountains; enticing Spanish beauties with castanets; the ridiculous experiences of an American who stumbles into this colorful setting; haunting melodies of love songs; the kidnaping of a charming, romantic French girl; alluring native dancers; a heart-breaking shiek; the romance of the desert; and a dream of love come true:—all are vividly combined to make one of the most delightful of Roosevelt's nine operas.

"The Red Mill, a production which rivaled the Desert Song in comical appeal, did not meet its standards in vocal opportunities; but this year's opera had that tinge of humor which Katinka and the Vagabond King—two most outstanding productions—lacked." So said Mr. Worth in reference to past productions.

OPERA

"Mademoiselle Modiste," that little French opera in nineteen hundred twenty-three, was Roosevelt's first attempt, and reminiscent of quaking hearts and nervous knees; and the "Wizard of the Nile" in nineteen hundred twenty-seven, held all the captured allure of old Egypt.

The cast this year had unquestionable vocal talent and this, combined with their dramatic ability made a complete and tremendous success of "The Desert Song." When Bill Williams stepped into the part of the Red Shadow, he converted himself into a glamorous, vivid personality; and Eleanore Nelson created in the lovely, romantic Margot, a character equally attractive. The leading characters were taken by Bud Fleming as Paul Fontaine; Howard Duff as General Birabeau; Margaret Ewart as Susan; Gladene La Vigne as Azuri; Noel Schram as Bennie; Robert Dickie as Ali Ben Ali; Molly McGrath as Clementina; Earl McFarland as Sid El Kar; Annie Olson as Ethel; Ronald Kelly and Evan Terry as Sergeants. The opera ballet also contributed to the romantic adventurous atmosphere—so definitely appealing.

SENIOR PLAY

Climaxing four years of enterprise and achievement, the Senior class presented the Senior Play, "Seventh Heaven," December eighteenth and nineteenth.

Two casts were chosen so that a greater number of students could participate. Molly McGrath and Constance Coyne were chosen as the feminine leads taking the part of Diane, a Paris gutter waif; while Johnny Biggs and Jim Gentry portrayed a charming sewer cleaner—Chico. The part of Arlette was portrayed by Janet Riggs and Harriet Crary, and Grace Parker was selected for the roll of Nana, the cruel sister of Diane. Other members of the cast included: Kenneth Clark and Ronald Renny as Boul; Ted Drotning and Dick Moore as Gobin; Bill Williams and Howard Duff as the priest; Noel Schram and Bill Roark as Brissac; Howard Duff and Ronald Renny as the sewer rat; and Jackson Gilpatrick as the uncle. Minor roles were taken by Jerry Crollard and Jack Kinzel. Many talented but less fortunate students devoted both time and energy to pantomime and understudy activities.

Seventh Heaven

Leads: Biggs, McGrath

Stage Director: Mr. Deits

SENIOR PLAY

"Seventh Heaven" offered a chance for widely different interpretations of the various roles. Connie Coyne, with naive charm portrayed Diane as a whimsical young lady, while Molly McGrath very effectively played her part in a melo-dramatic manner.

Diane, who had been cast into the streets by her cruel and degenerated sister, Nana, is saved by Chico, a sewer cleaner. In his garret room Diane finds a home and later, love. They are married just before Chico goes to war. The two form a tryst to think of each other at eleven o'clock each day and repeat the words, "Chico, Diane, Heaven." They both keep this promise until Diane learns of Chico's death, when she becomes temporarily insane. And then, in the midst of the celebration of peace, Chico appears blind, but alive.

The Senior class wishes to take this opportunity to show its appreciation to Miss Jergensen, director; Harry Deits and stage force; Mrs. Moody and costume force; Miss Fulton and art classes; Mr. Leaf and ticket force; Mr. Landes and usher corps; Mr. Worth and Senior orchestra; and Miss Breazeale and publicity committee.

STAGE FORCE

Behind the scenes! A magic phrase, but few people realize the extent and importance of the work that goes on behind the scenes on Roosevelt's stage.

Mr. Deits has been the supervisor of the group during Roosevelt's ten years of existence. Membership of the stage force, now nineteen, has increased by only five since the group was first organized. Efficiency is the keynote!

Five thousand dollars is invested in equipment—screens, tools, curtains, art materials, and electrical supplies! The electrical apparatus is not the least important feature. Roosevelt has one of the most complete switchboards in Seattle. All the brilliant lighting effects achieved in school productions are examples of its almost unlimited possibilities.

Notwithstanding the quality of the materials, they would be of little value without the expert manipulation of the members of the force. Besides the backers of the school productions, there are outside organizations who pay tribute to their unusual skill.

STAGE FORCE

The force designs and produces all of the sets, buying only such basic materials as lumber, paper, and paint. The remarkable feature in their work is that they do everything themselves. Even the artistic talent is furnished within the group. Very beautiful and elaborate scenes are set up—quaint Victorian villages, gloomy prison cells, dashing sea scenes. The versatility of the members is the real secret of their success, for ninety per cent of the cost of stage production lies in the labor; only ten per cent is used in actual materials.

Fellowship among the members is an element that makes the force a popular school organization. Once or twice during the year the group visits Mr. Deits' summer camp on Puget Sound. Several parties are also given.

The benefits of this organization are many, and because of the many applications for membership high standards are required. The course is particularly beneficial to those who plan to take up stage production as a life occupation. The force helps to make Roosevelt a leader in high school activities.

COSTUME CLASS—MAKE-UP CORPS

Beyond the glaring stagelights a realm of fantastic work is performed. A group of Rooseveltians, known as the Costume Design and Construction Classes are deftly at work fashioning attractive costumes for Roosevelt productions under the direction of Mrs. Moody and Miss Mathews.

For the first five years of its activity the costume force worked after school hours. The work became so great and the experience seemed so valuable, that it was decided to add a costume class to the curriculum.

Varieties of character impersonated in spicy juveniles—withering old age—bold South Sea islanders—minstrel comedians! All were the concentrated efforts of the Make-up Corps.

In nineteen twenty-two, under Mr. Riggs, the first make-up corps was organized. After six years Miss Fulton became advisor. The small number of twenty, which first started this worthwhile work at Roosevelt, has steadily increased until at the present time its membership has doubled that of the first corps.

INTERSCHOOL DEBATE

Three times a champion in ten years is Roosevelt's debate history! These laurels were won by the teams of '24, '25, and '27. The success of this work is largely due to the advisor, Mr. Toomey, who each year trains a team that all of the opponents dread to meet.

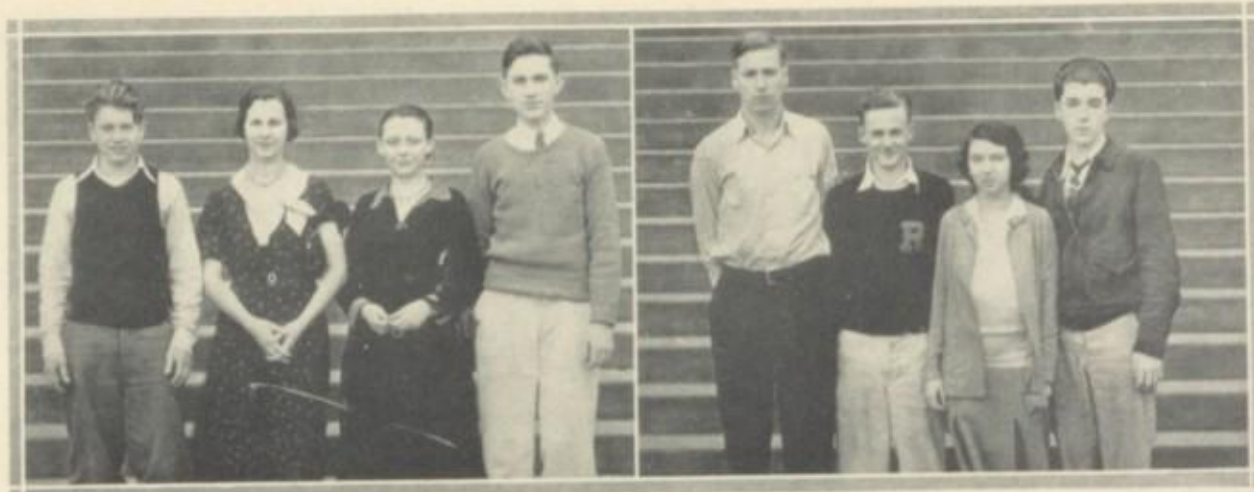

The first question for decision this year was, Resolved: That the five day week plan should be adopted. The affirmative side was upheld by Philip Kendrick and Ivan Merrick; the negative, by Dorothy Larson and Kenneth Clark. Both teams lost in the decisions by only a small margin. Mr. Peterson coached the affirmative and Mr. Rehbock the negative, the first semester.

The second question, Resolved: That the manager plan of city government should be adopted in all first and second class cities in the state of Washington. The affirmative was again defended by Philip Kendrick and Ivan Merrick, the negative by Dorothy Larson and Kenneth Clark. The faculty coaches the second semester were Mr. Turner, the affirmative; Mr. Cox, the negative. Although the decisions were against Roosevelt, the teams presented good arguments. Later, the debaters continued their work coaching the class debate teams. Although the year closed with no victories won, the true Roosevelt spirit was prevalent in all of the debates.

CLASS DEBATE

This year the ever-present struggle for supremacy among the classes came forth in the form of debate. Preparations for the class debates began in March. The first contest was held April nineteenth in the auditorium. Those making up the teams this year were: Freshmen, Raymond Docter and Donna June Grinnell; Sophomores, Berney Ramm and Bradley Jones; Juniors, Oliver Cosby and Halvor Strandrud; Seniors, Rodney Handley, Gertrude Whitham, and Carl Jacobson.

The coaches this year were members of the Varsity city debate team. The coach for the Freshmen was Dwight Logan; for the Sophomores, Barbara Jones; for the Juniors, Philip Kendrick; and for the Seniors, Dorothy Larson.

Resolved: That capital punishment should be abolished—was the question. The Freshmen and Seniors upheld the negative, and the Sophomores and Juniors, the affirmative.

The final contest, held April twenty-sixth, was awaited with expectant interest, because for several years the Sophomores had emerged victorious. Competition was keen among the classes. The question was chosen by the advisors of the debate team. It was of particular interest because of the many points of argument, pro and con. There was much heated discussion on both sides.

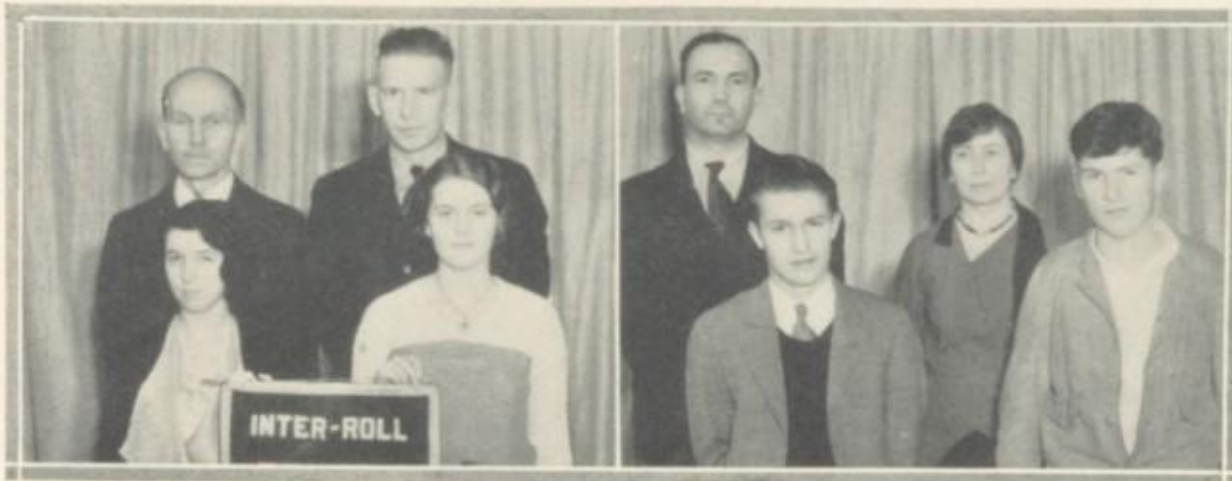

Class debate is anticipated with pleasure each year by the entire school. The classes view it as an opportunity to display their potential talent.

INTER-SCHOOL DEBATE—S. A. R.

Inter-Roll Debate is open each year to anyone who is interested in debating, and who is unable to turn out for city debate.

The question, Resolved: That modern conditions demand a college education for success, was very popular as it is a question facing most Roosevelt students at this time.

After the semi-final eliminations, two teams were left: Barbara Jones and June Dearinger of Mr. Riggs' roll on the negative side, and Dwight Long and Richard Clifford from Miss Norton's roll on the affirmative. After the final rebuttal in the auditorium, the decision was awarded to Mr. Riggs' team.

After the elimination of those who lost two debates, only eighteen contestants were left. The debaters became acquainted with not only their own side of the question, but also the other side, because each debater had to be prepared to meet either side of the question.

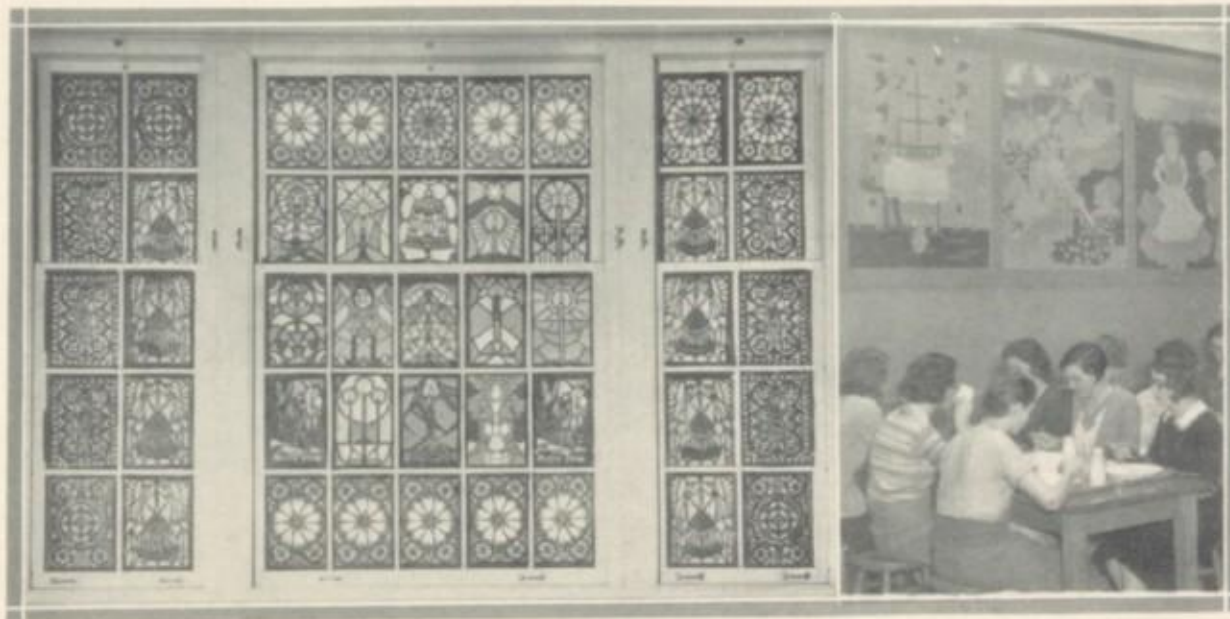

Self-satisfaction and joy are the results of concentrated effort to produce an oration worthy of the All-City Oratorical Contest.

Rodney Handley has proved himself a capable orator by his auspicious orations, which have acclaimed him winner, for two successive years, of the Walter F. Meier Trophy. His oration, "George Washington, the Man," brought him fourth place this year in the All-city Oratorical Contest.

The Walter F. Meier Trophy is presented annually to Roosevelt High School. The winner of each year has his name inscribed on the trophy, and receives, in addition, a check for ten dollars.

ART PROJECTS

Brilliant water colors! Glass paintings! Pen and ink drawings! Clay models! Paper cuttings! Fascinating posters! All these comprised a part of one of the most interesting and colorful displays ever exhibited in Roosevelt's art gallery. This was not only an exhibitional display, however, but also an advantageous one—benefiting the student body, and bringing praise upon its creators. Behind all these intricate curlicues—elusive shadings—and unusual angles, there was not only inborn genius and clever fingers, but there was also an abundance of hard work and co-operation, under the able supervision of Miss Fulton.

The arts this year have given over the majority of their time to original interpretations—thus accounting for some of the beautiful and unusual designs hung in the gallery. As a diversion from the regular studies of line and organization, an interesting attempt has been made with glass paintings, a type of work to be done more in the future; and to give to the arts that tinge of the gay cosmopolitan, copies of delicate paper cuttings from Russia and Czecho-Slovakia have been most successfully accomplished.

ART PROJECTS

Trying to imagine two hundred seventy-five posters being made in one week is indeed difficult, but that was just exactly the accomplishment of the Poster classes during the week of December twenty-seventh. These posters were greatly appreciated by the student body and the departments for which they were made, because of their expressiveness, sincerity, and truthful representation.

Plans for our school seal were first started by the art department under the supervision of Miss Nordell; and the basic design was originated this year by Retta Scott, Mary Gates, Evelyn Henderson, Andrea Jarmuth, Julia Lambert, Clifford Lean, and Donald Ostrom of Art three, under the directorship of Miss Fulton. The clever color combination for the insignia was materialized by the Art four class, and the seal was given to Rendall Wicks, a former Rooseveltian and present commercial artist, for professional perfection.

The past ten years have seen no finer water colors nor more interesting pieces of skill, workmanship, and originality than the ones that decorated our art gallery this year. This was due not only to unusually good talent but also to excellent supervision and co-operation.

ANNUAL STAFF

"Bigger and better annuals" has been the motto of the Roosevelt annual staff ever since the first book was published in nineteen hundred twenty-three.

The Strenuous Life is a charter member of The National Scholastic Press Association, having joined in nineteen hundred twenty-four, and has received first class rating every year up to the present time except in nineteen hundred twenty-eight when the rating dropped to second class.

The annuals were judged at the University of Wisconsin up to nineteen hundred twenty-six. In nineteen hundred twenty-seven the place of judging was changed to the University of Minnesota and, also, at this time, the name was changed from The Central Inter-scholastic Press Association to The National Scholastic Press Association.

This being the tenth year, the staff has worked up a special history section to give some of the "highlights" of previous years. Also, throughout the book, parts of the copy have been devoted to the history of the different organizations and activities.

The Annual Is Out.

NEWS STAFF

To publish "A Paper of Ideas and Ideals Representing Progressive American Youth" has truly been the policy of the Roosevelt News during the last year. The News is a weekly, seven column paper which has striven to give authentic, unbiased news to students, parents, and friends.

The first Roosevelt News was printed September twelfth, nineteen hundred twenty-two, under the advisorship of Reed Fulton. In nineteen hundred twenty-three, under the advisorship of Arthur Rarig, the paper won first prize in a nation-wide humor page contest and also became a member of the Central Inter-scholastic Press Association. For the last five years the News has received an All-American Rating in the National Scholastic Press Association contest. Roosevelt had the only high school paper in Seattle to receive this honor in nineteen hundred thirty and nineteen hundred thirty-one. The paper was also a member of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. The advertising work was done by a special class under the advisorship of Mr. Glass and Miss Stewart. This system was started in nineteen hundred twenty-nine and has proved to be very successful.

APPRECIATION

The Annual Staff of the nineteen hundred thirty-two edition of the Strenuous Life, wishes to express its sincere appreciation for the splendid co-operation and assistance of various teachers, pupils, and a Roosevelt graduate in the production of this year's Strenuous Life.

Miss Ward, the editorial advisor, and Mr. Thompson, the business advisor, have contributed immeasurably for six years as advisors of the Annual. The art advisor, Miss Fulton, aided the art staff in producing art pages of beautiful design which blended with the Showboat theme.

The girls' athletics copy was written by Helen Senior, the girls' athletic manager and Mr. Deits and the stage force helped to arrange platforms for picture taking, and lent the staff valuable negatives.

The news staff's advertisement was an asset to the annual sale, and the publications were of great assistance for copy writing.

Mr. Rarig gave suggestions and contributed pictures for the feature section.

ANNUAL STAFF

The Strenuous Life comes forth this year with the "Showboat Idea" for its theme. Climaxing ten years on the river of School Life the Showboat again arrives much bigger and better. This year's annual staff has worked to lay out an interesting program combining some highlights in the ten years' history with the regular program of the Show.

In the first section, entitled The Show's Personnel, the enthusiastic directors and jolly performers are the faculty and classes.

During a Showboat performance the curtain acts often stole the show; such is the case in this year's performance. The school without its numerous activities would be as dead and uninteresting as the Showboat program without its lively curtain acts.

Our School Life section holds many of the same laughs and surprises found in the small box called a Surprise Package sold between the acts during a Showboat program.

Then comes stupendous feats of strength, muscular tumblers, and graceful dancers—a fitting climax to such a masterful production.

NEWS STAFF

"The News"—the voice of Roosevelt! Painting attractive pictures of class entertainments; reviewing school achievements; acquainting students with outstanding personalities; describing school situations as seen through student eyes. A difficult job, but not too difficult for the News staff. Jim Nicholson and Pat Strickler, editors-in-chief for the last year and Miss Breazeale, have guided the News to high school supremacy in Seattle. John Biggs, Jim Greely, Emma Parker, Dorothy Ringrose, Pat Strickler, Eleanor Stromme, Ruth Hill, Dick Griffith, Paul Mickelson and Howard Schroeder, the year's capable editors, also bent all their energy and co-operation to furthering the cause of creating a News—respected, admired, and eagerly awaited each week by the student body and faculty of Roosevelt High School—carrying on Roosevelt's prestige throughout the city and the United States by winning for five years All-American, and adding to its renown among other schools, by winning first place in this year's competitions.

AD STAFF

Despite the quality of the News, it could not exist without the financial support given by the Ad Staff. Elizabeth MacKintosh, Dick Griffith, and Elwood McDonald, circulation and advertising managers, respectively, combined their untiring efforts with the splendid spirit displayed by the staff and students; over-ruled the difficulty of financial backing, and succeeded in protecting the paper's existence. The News was not forced to reduce the size of its publication, as were many other high schools, but kept the paper in all its originality, and so to the Ad Staff has gone credit for retaining "The Voice of Roosevelt."

Each member of the staff is assigned a given beat from which to collect the advertisements for each week's news. Mr. Sam Glass, the advisor for the past two years, has supervised all work done by this group.

FEATS OF STRENGTH

The Feats of Strength! How the ladies gasped when the strong man lifted his five-hundred-pound weights, and how the little boys stared in open-eyed wonder when he bent the spike between his fingers! In our school our athletes take the place of the strong man. They thrill us with their off-tackle plays, their mid-floor shots, their ten-second dashes, and their home-runs. We admire them, our girls adore them, and the Freshmen idolize them.

FOOTBALL

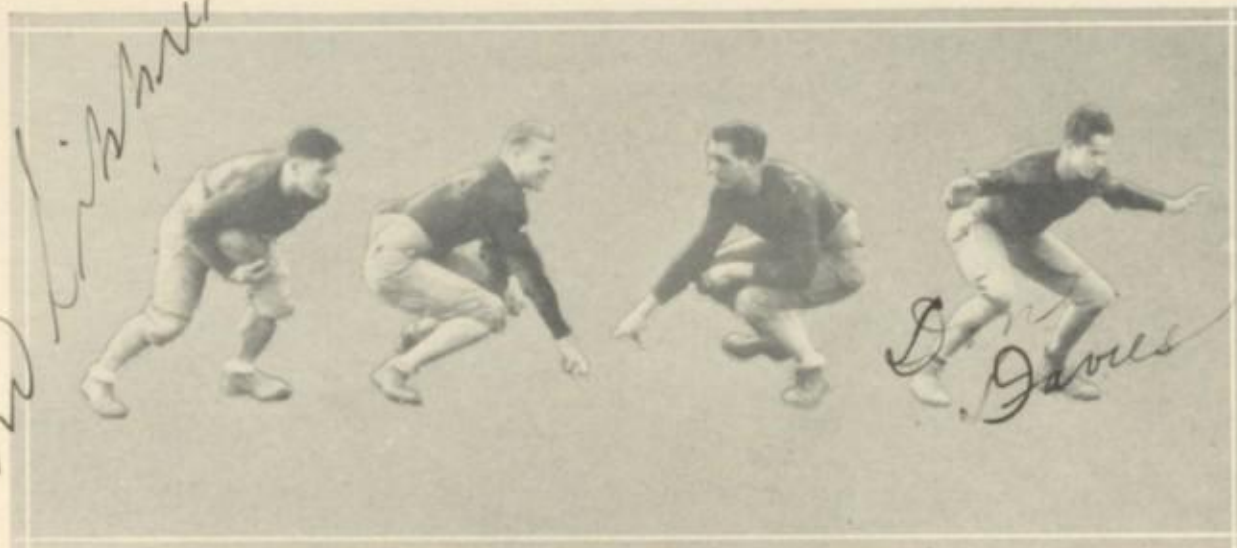

Making this tenth year unforgettable, the Roosevelt football team copped its second championship by going through its six game schedule unbeaten, untied, and unscored upon.

This team was similar in many respects to the championship squad of 1924. Both teams had the same type of jerseys, brown with green and gold stripes; both teams had few letter winners, twelve each year; both teams had a diminutive halfback; both teams were considered green and inexperienced at the start of the season, and both beat Garfield, the only two Roosevelt teams to have ever accomplished that feat.

The boys were able to win the championship through their ability to co-operate with each other and with Coach Dvorak. The line could depend upon the backfield and the backs on the line for each player to come through, and at no time was either one in doubt as to the ability of the other. Above all, they worked as a unit, with one and only one quarterback in the game to call signals and give the plays.

Managers: Waltz, Greely, Swetnam, Fujihira, Spirk, Barnette

Sipprell, Full; Thomas, Guard; Baldwin, Tackle; Davies, End

FOOTBALL

Although the Rough Riders went into the first game of the season with Garfield as underdogs, they were determined to break the Bulldog jinx that had been hanging over them for the past seven years. The score remained tied until the third period when Baldwin, Ted tackle, blocked a Garfield kick, took the ball in the air, and ran to the five yard line before being downed. Three plays later Max Bitts went over for the only score of the game, to break the East side superiority.

With every back scoring a touchdown, the Teds took Ballard into camp to the tune of 26-0. Although the field was sloppy, the mud did not prevent the Roosevelt offense from sweeping before it everything the Beavers had to offer.

In the Queen Anne tussle, the wettest of the season, the Sipprell-Logg lateral first came into prominence. After three quarters of scoreless ball, "Sippy" flipped a neat lateral to Logg, who crossed the goal untouched. Six minutes later the Colonels pushed across a second score with Sipprell counting.

Held to two points during the first half of the Broadway mix, the Cowen Parkers came through in championship style to finally cop 22-0. Sipprell-Logg, Tandoo, and Dirks, each made a touchdown.

FOOTBALL

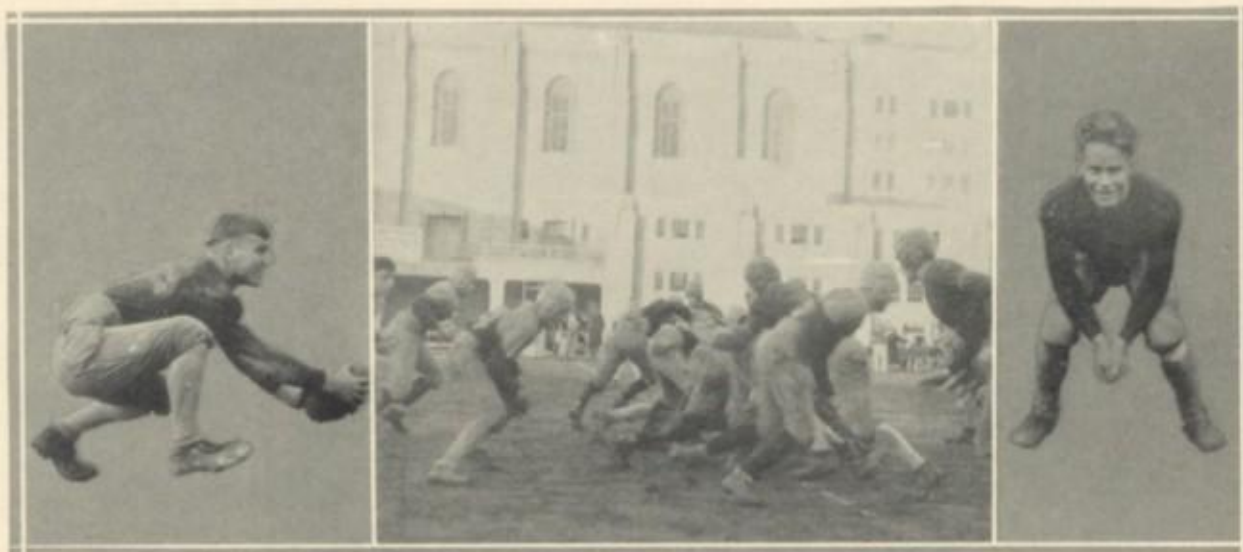

Proving itself to be the hardest game of the season, the Teds were able to defeat Franklin 6-0 only after hard playing and the timer's gun cut short the Quaker rally which ended on the Roosevelt three yard line. The Sipprell-Logg lateral again made possible the only score of the contest.

Roosevelt came up to the final contest with West Seattle, which was to decide the championship, a slight favorite. The first quarter was even. Jarvis, however, recovered a fumble about the middle of the second period and the Teds worked the ball into position on the Indians' twenty yard line. Logg then booted the only field goal of the season to give the Rough Riders a three point edge. Play was hard and fast in the third canto with the Chinooks holding an edge, forcing Logg to kick from behind his own goal line three times. In the last quarter with but five minutes to go, the Indians began heaving passes and on the third attempt Max Bitts intercepted and scored from the forty-five yard line.

Further honors were forthcoming after the season ended with the placing of Elmer Logg, back; Max Bitts, back; George Dirks, end; and Bob Brown, center; on the All-city First Team. Harold Jarvis, guard, and Don Davies, end, placed on the Second Team.

FOOTBALL

Unable to equal the perfect record made by the first team, the Roosevelt scrubs had to be satisfied with sharing top honors with Lincoln. The scores were:

Roosevelt 6; Garfield 6

Roosevelt 7; Broadway 0

Roosevelt 6; Ballard 2

Roosevelt 0; Franklin 6

Roosevelt 12; Queen Anne 6

Roosevelt 6; West Seattle 0

Up to the last game the Teds were riding in second place, one-half game behind West Seattle, but the seconds emulating the work of the first team handed the Chinooks a 6-0 licking to cinch a tie for the championship.

And last but not least—is the third of Roosevelt's football champions—the Frosh-Soph team.

For the second consecutive year that the Frosh-Soph league has been in operation the Babes walked away with the pennant unscored upon. The Teds won as follows:

Roosevelt 7; Lincoln 0

Roosevelt 13; Ballard 0

Roosevelt 6; West Seattle 0

Roosevelt 18; Seattle College 0

Coach Scheer again proved himself to be the premier of under-class coaches as he piloted this, his sixth team, to a championship.

BASKETBALL

Considered an average team at the end of the first round of play, the Roosevelt basketball squad made a phenomenal comeback, losing but one game during the second round.

At the season's start things looked black for the Rough Riders, for only one letterman appeared when the call for candidates was issued.

Playing away from home and being slightly over-confident proved the downfall of the Teds in their first encounter of the season with the Quakers. They evened things up in the second fray, taking the West Seattle five in easy fashion.

After a low scoring first half in which Lincoln was held to a slim lead, the Colonels were unable to check the Lynx offense and lost 22-14.

With the start of the new semester Jack Gannon and Bob Dickie became eligible for team play. Even this addition to the team failed to prevent the Hilltoppers from taking the Roosevelt in an overtime contest.

BASKETBALL

Spoiling Ballard's chances for the flag, the Rough Riders went on a scoring spree to topple the haughty Shingleweavers 38-26. The Teds, now rated as one of the best squads in the league, travelled to Cleveland to trample the Eagles; five Roosevelt hoopsters received the shock of their lives at the reception afforded them and came away on the short end of a 21-20 score.

The second round of play found a Roosevelt quintet which meant business and wasn't afraid to work for it.

The Cowen Parkers avenged its first defeat with Franklin by completely routing the Bennys 39-27. They took the Indians in a slow contest; and then proceeded to hand the Railsplitters a 43-24 pasting.

Queen Anne was the next victim, losing by a one-sided margin; the Quays were able to score but four field baskets during the whole game. Ballard, however, proved the Teds' downfall, winning 30-24.

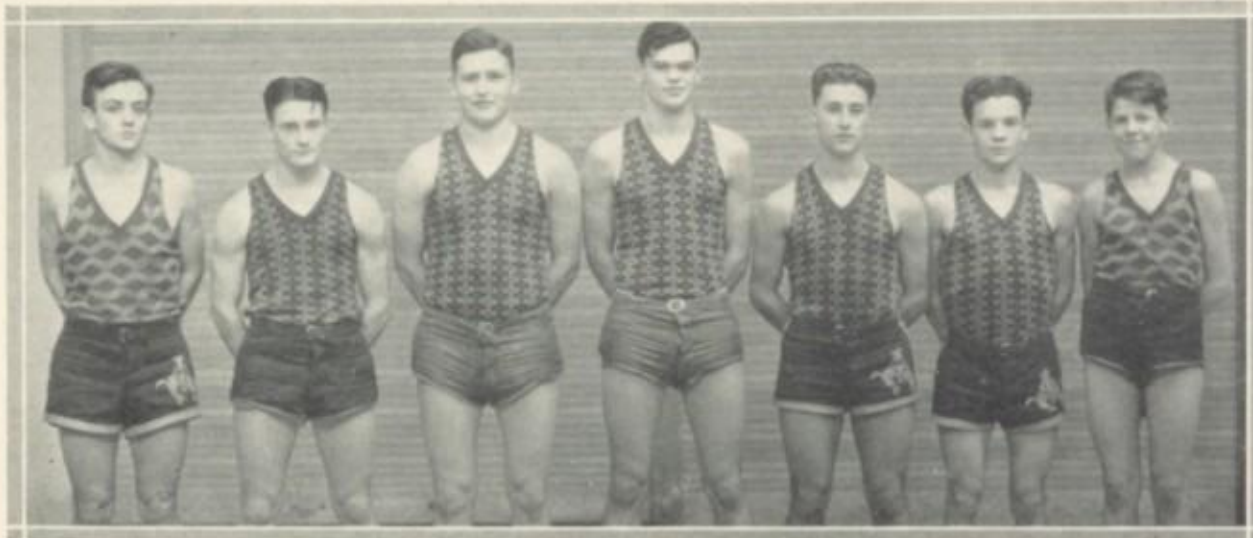

Closing the season, the Colonels took Cleveland into camp 44-15. This win enabled Roosevelt to finish tied for third place with Ballard.

All-city honors went to Jack "Snake" Gannon, who was awarded a forward position on the first team.

Werner, Hofeditz, and Dickie were outstanding in every game.

BASKETBALL

Clearly outclassing the best that the rival second teams had to offer the Teddy scrub quintet walked off with the championship in an impressive manner. Winning ten games, losing one, and tying one, the Colonels scored as follows:

Roosevelt 11; Franklin 16	Roosevelt 25; Franklin 11
Roosevelt 19; West Seattle 10	Roosevelt 18; West Seattle 3

In the first game with Franklin the Teds were doped to win handily. Over-confidence, however, proved their downfall and they found themselves on the short end of a 16-11 score. The West Seattle tussle went to the Colonels by a big margin. The Teds ran into a tough foe in Lincoln and had to come from behind to tie. The rest of the season was all for Roosevelt.

This year's team made the third similar squad that has copped the title, and Coach Dvorak is deserving of a great deal of credit. He developed a strong second team, made up for the most part of Juniors which will make it tough for next year's opposition.

BASKETBALL

Taking its fifth championship, the Colonel Sophomore basketball team clearly showed itself to be the cream of the league by scoring as follows:

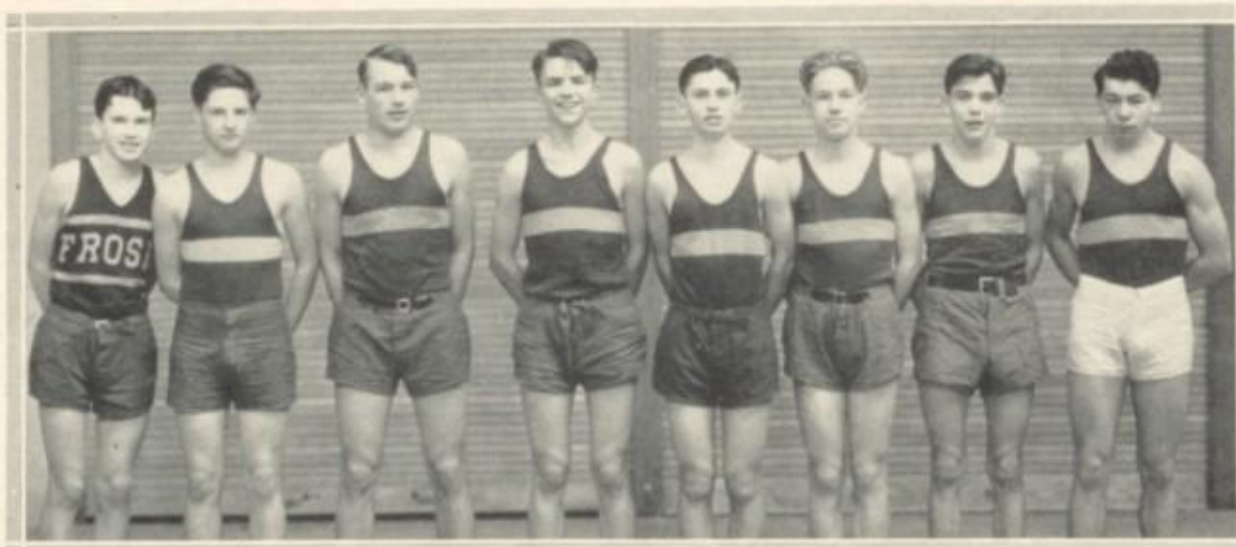

Roosevelt 19; Lincoln 7	Roosevelt 23; Garfield 15
Roosevelt 23; Queen Anne 10	Roosevelt 30; Broadway 9
Roosevelt 29; Cleveland 2	Roosevelt 25; Ballard 9
Roosevelt 27; West Seattle 6	Roosevelt 17; Franklin 26

The Sophs have set an enviable record, never having finished less than second during the past ten years. Coach Turner deserves a great deal of praise for his untiring work in developing this squad.

Suffering the worst season in its ten years of team play, the Frosh court squad were able to win but two out of eight games played. The team won and lost as follows:

Roosevelt 10; Lincoln 31	Roosevelt 11; Garfield 13
Roosevelt 6; Queen Anne 22	Roosevelt 15; Broadway 21
Roosevelt 8; Cleveland 13	Roosevelt 12; Ballard 3
Roosevelt 16; West Seattle 14	Roosevelt 14; Franklin 44

Pitifully weak at the start of the season the squad was bolstered by the coming of several John Marshall players at the beginning of the second semester.

BASEBALL

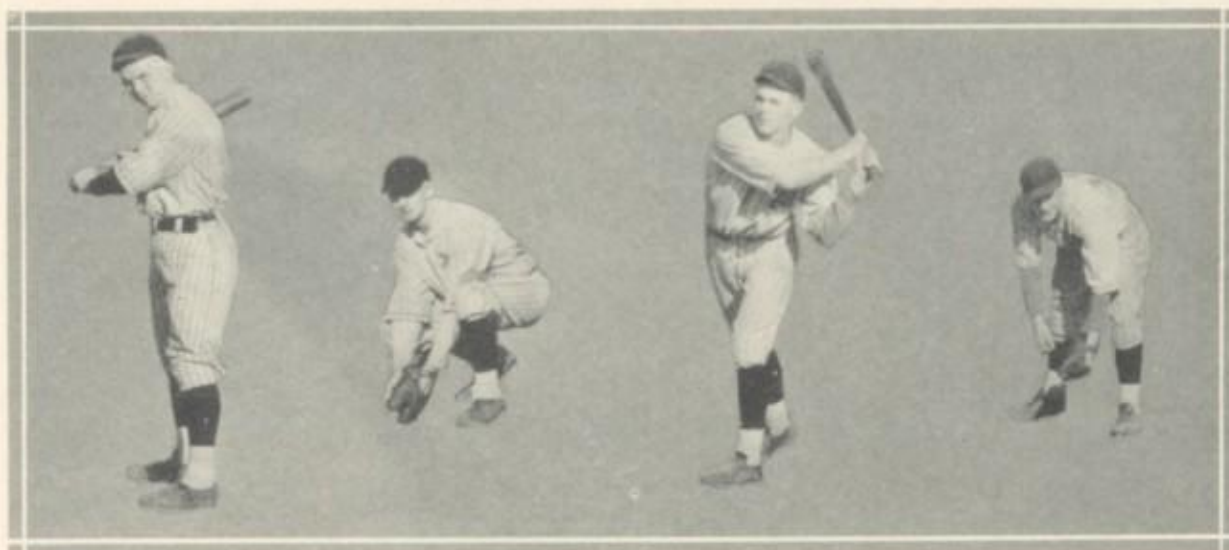

With pre-season prospects of having a team which was to finish high up in the standings, the Roosevelt ball club has had a hard time keeping up to the leaders to date, having won one and lost three.

Coach Turner developed a strong squad around ten returning lettermen, three of whom were pitchers, which incidentally was the weakest point of the nine. The batting of the team is well enough, the squad having an average of .315 for the four games played. The fielding, although ragged at the start, is rapidly improving and as the season progresses it should see Roosevelt becoming stronger with each game played.

Practice for the regular schedule was secured in several practice games with other institutions. In a game played against the University of Washington Freshmen the score was knotted at 3-all when the ninth inning had been completed but by special arrangements between both coaches the game was not continued. Lincoln was routed 20-5 in another warm-up.

BASEBALL

Opening day proved a gala event. A caravan was paraded to the Civic Auditorium with the Band acting as escort. Aside from the setting, however, the day was a failure as far as Roosevelt was concerned for Franklin spanked the saucy Teds to the tune of 5-2. The Quakers started out to win scoring a run in the first; Hofeditz evened things up in the second on a wild pitched ball. No further tallies were counted until the sixth when Franklin made two; in its half the Rough Riders could only manage one. Completing the score the Green Wave pushed across two more in the eighth on a hit, an error and a sacrifice. Pete Charles chucked for Roosevelt.

Against the weak Ballard nine the Colonels fared no better, coming off on the short end of an 8-6 score. Things looked good for the Teds during the early innings of the game when the Colonels jumped into a four run lead by the end of the third. In the fourth, however, the lead was blown as the Beavers scored four runs. Roosevelt scored again in the seventh but was set back once more, the Shingleweavers pulling three across in the eighth. Nevaril went the full route for the Rough Riders.

BASEBALL

With every player but one getting at least two hits, the Cowen Parkers walked over Garfield in an impressive fashion, making twelve runs to the Bulldogs' five. Roosevelt started the fireworks by getting two tallies in their half of the first on three bingles. The Pups evened things up in the second with the aid of a walk, a double, an error, and a hit batsman. Both teams scored three in the third and a good game seemed in view. In the fifth the Rough Riders left no doubt as to who would win by pulling nine hits and six runs. Johnson, Milroy, and Charles were the batting stars.

Going into the Queen Anne tussle, the Colonels were favorites by a big margin, but by the time the game had progressed but five innings it was apparent that Roosevelt was in for its worst licking of the season. Bengston started pitching for the North Enders but was batted out of the box in the first inning when the Hilltoppers scored five runs. Roosevelt made two runs in each the first, second, and fourth innings, while the Quays pushed over a total of fifteen runs.

Next year's team will be molded around eight returning letter winners.

GOLF

Watch out everybody for another group of likely champions.

Roosevelt's golf team, although not having entirely completed its schedule, has but two more matches to play and at present is riding at the top of its league with six straight wins.

Opening with a 15-9 victory over the Franklin dark-horse squad the Teds immediately became favorites to cop the pennant. In quick succession the Colonels then swamped Queen Anne, 20½-3½; Broadway 18½-5½; and Garfield 20-4. Cleveland, another favorite, lost 15½-8½; while West Seattle was defeated 23-1.

TENNIS

Coach Leaf, not to be outdone by the other mentors, has also developed a team which looks to be the class of its league.

This squad, which devotes most of its time to playing the ancient game of tennis, shows every indication of becoming the seventh of Roosevelt's prep champions.

Kenny Clegg, holder of both the Boys' Indoor and Outdoor titles; Jim Hill, winner of the Junior Boys' title in nineteen hundred thirty, and Vincent Gandolfo, Park Board Junior champion, are the mainstays of the team and are sure winners in any position.

Ride 'em, Rough Riders, Ride 'em!

What a spirited yell, and what memories it brings—of football, basketball, baseball, assemblies, and of those lively fellows who lead them so well!

YELL LEADERS

The yell king, Johnny Rosencranz, and his dukes, Johnny Sanders and Pat Bryant, were out to every game and whether it rained or the wind blew or poor crowds turned out their spirits were never daunted, and they always kept the students in a happy state of mind with their stunts and surprises.

TUMBLERS

Another active organization, not so well known, perhaps, to the students is the tumblers. These tumblers met every morning between 7:30 and 8:30 before school under the directorship of Sherry Berthiaume. Some twenty-five boys took part in the exercises which serve to develop a good body foundation.

FROSH-SOPH MEET

Roosevelt Frosh 1½, Eighth Place

TRACK

Ralph Hardin

Although having participated in but two inter-school meets at press time, the Cowen Parkers are already showing their strength in several events: 100 and 220 yard dashes, 880 yard run, relay, high jump, broad jump, and pole vault.

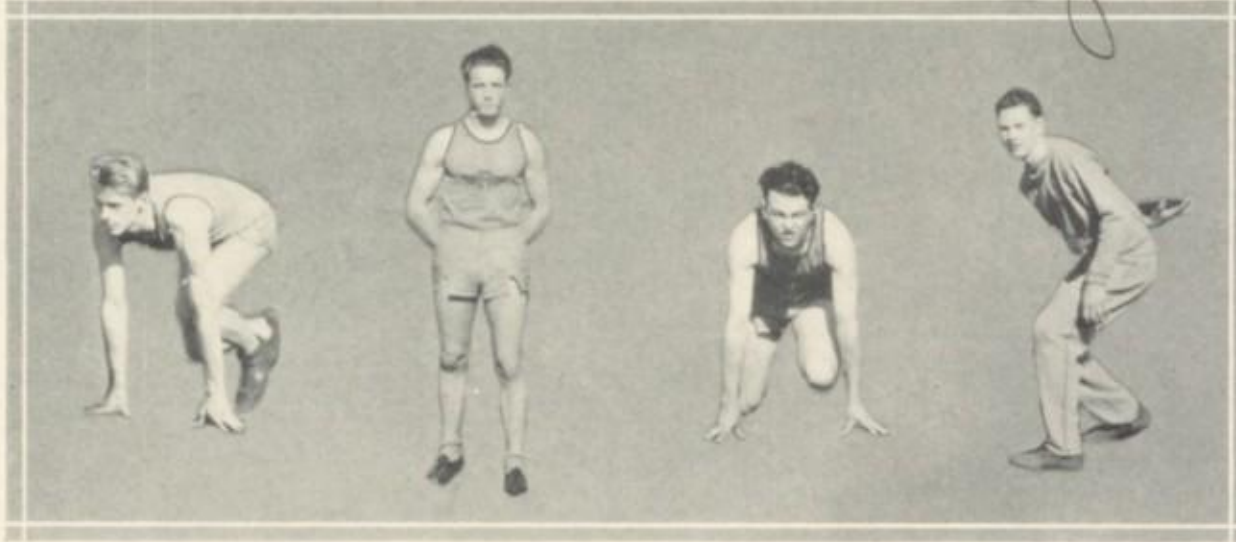

In the balance of the events the squad is proportionately weak. There are, however, many Juniors and underclassmen to be back next year who will bolster up these weaker points.

Bruce Humber, a transfer from the Province of British Columbia, is proving to be a premier dash man, having taken firsts in both sprints at the two meets. His time is exceptionally fast and he is counted upon to bring at least ten points to Roosevelt in the All-city. Bruce also runs anchor man on the relay. Bert Anshutz, three year letter man, is a consistent point gainer in the high and broad jumps. His jumping mate is Joe Sigler who placed second in the All-city high jump last year and is expected to do even better this year.

Coach Smith

Roosevelt athletics as we know them today owe a great deal to that versatile coach, Mr. Smith.

He organized the first baseball team, managed Frosh and Soph basketball, put intramurals in the foreground, and developed one of the strongest golf teams in the city.

INTRAMURALS

Proving itself again, as in previous years, to be the most popular of all sports offered in Roosevelt, the intramural athletics enjoyed a most successful season under the expert guidance of Mr. Smith and his efficient corps of managers.

Basketball stole the limelight in the fall sports with some one hundred seventy-five boys participating. Instead of having just one league in the inter-roll play-off, two were formed, a major league made up of upperclass boys, and a minor circuit picked from rolls containing underclass students. The major championship was won by Turner-Roudebush, who defeated Smith-Roe 25-8. Toomey took Anselm 18-13 to win the minor crown.

In the winter league, made up of any five boys getting together a team and playing in the Girls' gym before school, Hurley's team walked right through all opposition.

INTRAMURAL

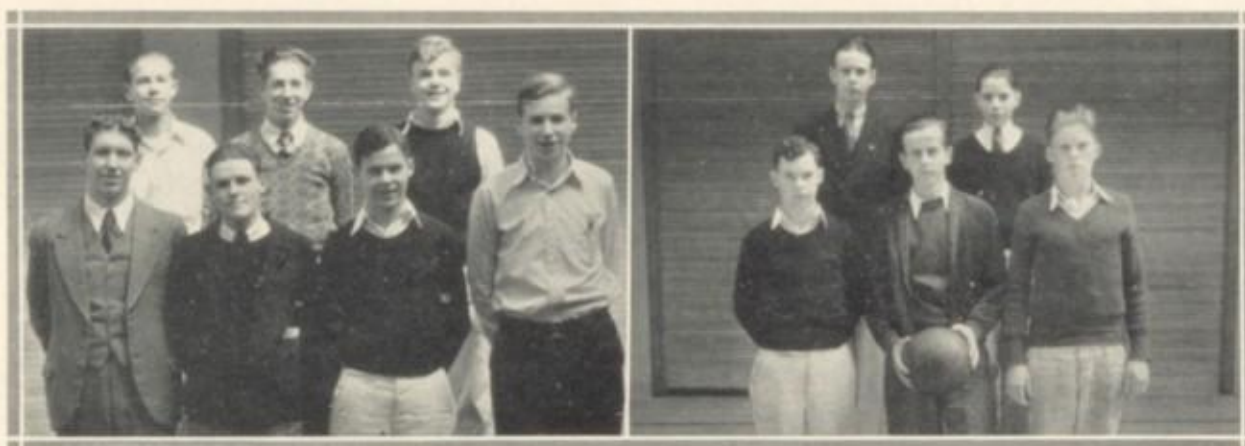

Horseshoes had a bad year due to an excess of rain experienced just as the final rounds were being reached, thus making it impossible to conclude either the singles or doubles; Bob Cole was in charge of this sport. Individual handball also had its part and Jean Bergues made the best of his opportunities and won the medal from Kenneth Hessemer by the scores of 11-10, 11-6. Mr. Anselm's roll team, made up of Kenneth Hessemer and Clarence Berg, took the doubles crown after much competition; handball was under the managership of Cliff Thorgaard and Oscar Hendrickson.

Dick Stackpole proved to be the best that tennis had to offer by defeating Jean Bergues 6-4, 2-6, 7-5. In golf, Bob Bigelow was chipping his way to victory over Bill Garland, 4-2. Ivan Merrick handled tennis, while Floris Shores had charge of the golf tournament.

Spring sports were well under way at press time with inter-roll baseball commanding the king pin position as one hundred or more boys took part as active participants. Chuck Lowry and Howard Garvin managed the diamond sport. Individual handball was under the direction of Bernard Lonctot; roll handball, under Ivan Merrick. Paul Parks directed individual tennis, which had the largest turnout other than baseball. Ray Ryerson was in charge of horseshoes singles, while Howard Biggs took care of roll horseshoes.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

Just friends! In summing up the tenth year of girls' athletics, no description more graphic could be given. From start to finish turnouts have been conducted on the basis of one "big happy family." So prevalent was this feeling of friendliness and co-operation that some of the classes actually experienced difficulty in being "unfriendly" enough to win the title for themselves. Such enthusiasm as that was what enabled Roosevelt's tenth anniversary to be labeled "Roosevelt Girls' Banner Year."

The "happy family" was managed as usual by the Rho Club with the following officers in command: Bertha Johnson, president; Alice Hay, vice-president; Joyce Johnson and Harriet Williams, secretary-treasurers; and Frances Mattison, advertising manager.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

What would be more doleful than an athletic year without any additional merriment? In accordance with the "Let's get associated" attitude maintained throughout, the girls had their usual fling at parties. The Gym Dandy, the big athletic festival held October thirtieth, and the Fall Initiation Banquet proved to be the best affairs of their kind ever held, not only because of their quantity but also because of their quality. The new initiates included: Frances Craig, Ruth Jennings, Alice Ogden, Mabel O'Toole, Eleanor Richards, Geraldine Salkin, Lova Tenney, Jane VanBogaert, Ada Wallace, and Harriet Williams.

BASKETBALL

Basketball is still by far the most popular sport offered to the girls. They manifested their enjoyment of this sport by their eagerness, co-operation, and good teamwork. The customary preliminary and final tournaments were run off with the Senior team emerging victorious by dint of the efforts of Eunice Bowman, Fern Claxton, Ruth Drotning, Bertha George, Alice Hay, Lucille Lake, Bertha Johnson, Frances Mattison, Helen Senior, and Ada Wallace. The "all star" team selected at the close of the season was made up of upper and lower class girls who were outstanding in performance, skill, and sportsmanship. The basketball season occupied the spotlight from September to December and ended in a grand rally for all basketball aspirants at which the all-star team played and the girls danced and made merry. All results were due in a large part to Manager Anita Charles and her assistant, Olga Masilotti.

VOLLEYBALL

This year, contrary to expectations, the Senior team upset the "dope" of the last two years and defeated the Juniors, consequently regaining the long-lost title of volleyball "champions." Winning eight out of nine games the team, composed of Fern Claxton, Frances Craig, Ruth Drotning, Alice Hay, Bertha Johnson, Nellie Markley, Frances Mattison, Helen Senior, Helen Thompson, and Ada Wallace, succeeded in bringing back the lost title of "infallible."

The volleyball manager, Louise Ingalls, ran off the customary preliminary and final tournaments which lasted from December to March, during which the increase in skill and friendship was a worthwhile reward.

BASEBALL

The "great American pastime," baseball, is the sport at Roosevelt which competes with basketball for first place in the hearts of its athletic girls. The merit of the sport, together with the call of spring days and play in the open, brought about a record turnout. Baseball rounded up the year closing the first week in June. Under the manager-ship of Lova Tenney and with renown in its favor, the successful turnout was inevitable.

TENNIS

As is customary the fall tennis call issued by the manager, Eunice Bowman, attracted a large number of enthusiasts. The Class A, Class B, doubles and singles tournament were run off in typical Roosevelt style. Alice Ogden battled her way to victory in the Class A division and the Class B championship was won by Eleanor Whipple with Alice Hay and Eileen Medler emerging victorious in the Class A doubles.

ARCHERY

Archery once more proved to be a popular sport. Mabel O'Toole, an ardent enthusiast, was appointed this year's manager. A Class A tournament for experienced archers and a Class B tournament for beginners were run off before and after school. Because of courses offered outside of school there were a great many accomplished aspirants.

MANAGERS: First Row: Ingalls, O'Toole, Williams, de Desrochers. Second Row: Clax-ton, Markley, Curran.

TENNIS: First Row: Appleton, Greenwald. Second Row: Ogden, Hay, Craig.

Mabel

TRACK: First Row: Collingwood, Ingalls, Hegewald, Newman, Amundson, Jennings, Curran. Second Row: Ogden, Hwang, Gilson, Whipple, Goodwin, Masilotti, Van Bogart.

TRACK

Because of the success of last year's experiment, track was run off just like a regular field day. Contrary to popular belief, track does not consist of running events only. Special attractions were events featuring speed and accuracy on the part of competitors. Frances Craig, track manager, announced that each girl earning nine points in three of the following events, rope climb, basketball throws for distance and accuracy, baseball throws for distance and accuracy, and the fifty-yard dash and relay, would earn a numeral.

HOCKEY

Once again the girls put hockey over; this time unhampered by lack of space. Negotiations by which they secured the use of the reservoir field after school solved all previous problems. Miss Beatrice Tidd coached the sport and was ably assisted by Jeannette de Desrochers, manager.

HIKING

Hiking was the activity advocated as the surest way of making new friends. Because it is such a healthful, delightful way to spend an afternoon or a Saturday, and because it was a sure point winner, it was well liked. Hikes were arranged for girls unable to attend the Saturday hikes which were usually longer and more delightful. Harriet Ansart, hike manager, scheduled a hike a month, which included trips to Fort Lawton and Mercer Island.

CAPTAINS: First Row: de Desrochers, Ingalls, Craig, Ogden. Second Row: Charles Masilotti, Ansart, Tenney, O'Toole.

ARCHERY: O'Toole, Williams, Ansart, Hay, Claxton.
